St. Luke's, Noxen plans observance of 75th anniversary

Two former pastors of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Noxen, will be guest speakers at the 75th anniversary celebration of its founding. The Rev. Wesley K. Kimm, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Raubsville, will deliver the evening sermon, and the Rev. John R. Albright, St. John's Lutheran Church, Catawissa, will conduct the vespers. The morning service will be conducted at 11 a.m. by the Rev. John S. Kerr of the Parish Board of Education. The Ladies Society of the church, of which Mrs. John Jones is president, will serve a buffet luncheon after the morning worship in the parish house. After the luncheon, the parish house will be open for members and friends to get acquainted with new members of the congregation.

drivers alerted for school buses

Each year, immediately following Labor Day, motorists are again urged to be on the alert for school buses on the highways. The Pennsylvania AAA Federation asks motorists to improve their knowledge of regulations regarding the passing of school buses. Everyone who gets behind the wheel of a vehicle should make an effort to do all they can to insure the safety of those children on school buses and of those standing or walking along roads.

gathered in the living room of Mr. and Mrs. George K. Mosser, proprietors of the tannery 75 years ago, the church was merely a dream. They discussed holding Sunday School sessions in the tannery. Out of that dream grew the idea of starting a Lutheran church in the community. Ministers and theological students were invited to conduct a Lutheran service more or less regularly.

A Lutheran congregation of 22 charter members was organized and the Rev. H.F.J. Senecker became the first pastor. It was in his pastorate that the call on May 19, 1895 was made for a meeting to be held June 1, 1895 in order to organize the group into a regular congregation. According to a report of the meeting, "It was moved by Adam D. Kresge that the Lutheran Congregation of Noxen be known as 'St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church.'"

Thirteen pastors, beginning with the Rev. H.F.J. Senecker in 1894, and ending with the Rev. Wesley K. Kimm in 1965, have served the congregation. It is the fervent hope of the congregation that this 75th anniversary celebration will give them the leadership, loyalty, fellowship, and courage needed to accept the challenge before them.

A cordial invitation is extended to members and friends to participate in the occasion Sept.

Couples club wiener roast

The Trucksville Methodist Couples Club will hold a wiener roast Sept. 12 at 8 p.m. at the Educational Building. Reservations should be made with Gail Kistler or Mary Oliver by Sept. 6. All couples of the church are invited.

Cover liquid honey and comb honey and store in a dark place at room temperature, advise extension foods and nutrition specialists at The Pennsylvania State University. Honey loses aroma and flavor, and absorbs moisture and odors readily when exposed to air. Creamed honey may be kept covered at room temperature or in the refrigerator if the room is very warm.
