sewer costs soar says R S Martin

"Every second the building of a sewer system is put off, the more it costs." This belief was espoused by R. Spencer Martin, chairman of the Back Mountain Municipal Authority, and other members of the authority at a special meeting held Oct. 29 for the purpose of presenting preliminary financial information about the proposed sewage system to local government officials. Past experience would tend to support the authority's claim.

Ten years ago, a feasibility study made for this area indicated that a sewage system would have cost roughly half what it will cost today. Incredibly—but not altogether unexpectedly—the cost of sewers in the Back Mountain area has risen well over $1 million in the year and a half that the present municipal authority has struggled to get the plans off the drawing board.

Mr. Martin explained last Thursday night that construction of the sewage system is scheduled to begin January, 1971.

Treatment plant construction should be completed by January, 1973, when the first property hook-ons will begin. Roughly 40 per cent of the project will be completed during the first year, 50 per cent the second, and 10 per cent the third.

Each municipality will be expected to approve three basic ordinances at their next meetings. One ordinance will give the authority the right to cut streets and install sewer lines; the second, the right to assess land owners; the third will make it mandatory for property owners to connect to the system when it is completed. Any house within 150 feet of a sewer line would be required to connect to the line.

Dallas Township to buy truck

The Board of Supervisors of Dallas Township voted unanimously at their Monday meeting to accept the Dallas Area Municipal Authority's recommendation concerning fees for the proposed sewage system in the Back Mountain. Secretary Glenn Howell was authorized to contact R. Spencer Martin authority chairman, and advise him of the affirmative vote.

The township is advertising for a 1971 F-900 Ford truck, and will trade in a 1960 model.

A representative of the New Goss Manor Association asked for assistance in the installation of ten new street signs. The association bought the signs, metal posts, brackets, etc., but needed help in putting the signs up. The township agreed to help.

Work is continuing on the traffic signal to be placed at the intersection of Route 309, Center Hill and Hildebrandt Roads.

An emergency police number, 675-5259, will be used effective Nov. 9. Calls will go into Luzerne County Court House communications center, and then be relayed to local authorities.

Supervisor Phillip Walter will attend a dinner meeting next week for the signing of the merged police agreement.
