

Camelback Presents Program at Rotary

A W.C. Fields movie from out of the past, and a new theatre concept as new as tomorrow, were topics of the program given May 6 at the meeting of the Dallas Rotary Club at the Irem Temple Country Club. Producers Anthony Carone and Joe Goldbloom of the new Camelback Summer Playhouse in the Poconos, presented the 1930 comedy, "The Golfmaster," as a prime example of a master cinema comedian at work.

"Nostalgia is the key word on Broadway these days with 'No No Nanette' and 'Follies,' the hottest tickets in New York," Mr. Goldbloom remarked, "and this movie brings us back to that era of simple fun, and comprehensible problems."

After being introduced by President Hanford L. Eckman, and vice president Donald Evans, the producers provided information about the new theatre which will be opening in the Poconos June 28. Air-conditioned, with 400 seats, the playhouse off Interstate 80 will present a roster of three comedies and three musicals performed by a professional equity company, many of whom will be recreating roles they have had with the national companies.

The schedule for the season will include: "See How They Run," June 28-July 10; "Fiddler on the Roof," July 12-24; "Man of La Mancha," July 26-31; "The Fantasticks," Aug. 2-7; "Star Spangled Girl," Aug. 23-Sept. 4.

Performances will be held nightly (except Sundays,) at 8:30 with matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2:30. A pre-theatre buffet, cocktail lounge, after-theatre entertainment, picnic grounds, chairlift ride—all will be part of the scene at Camelback this summer.

40 Senior Citizens Attend First Meeting

More than 40 enthusiastic adults attended the Back Mountain Senior Citizens meeting held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Shavertown, last week.

Sister Ann Paye, College Misericordia, outlined the types of workshops planned for the month of July at the college. Margaret Spencer, Bureau of Aging, spoke on fields of interest available to Senior Citizens.

Ellen Gray, was appointed acting chairman of the organization until officers are elected at the meeting to be held June 14 at College Misericordia, House of Studies.

Refreshments were served by members of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Wooden Hangers Preferred

Switch from the metal hanger you get with clothes from the drycleaner, to a wooden, padded, or plastic shaped hanger, advises Ruth Ann Wilson, extension clothing specialist at The Pennsylvania State University. Shaped hangers help your clothing keep the original shape. Stress on clothes from hanging is spread over a larger area and wooden or plastic hangers can support the weight of the garment better than a metal hanger.

Food Enrichment

Tests have proved that additions of nutritional substances do not affect the flavor of cereals, breads, and flours, says Ruth J. Buck, extension foods and nutrition specialist at The Pennsylvania State University.
