

Canadian Takes Purse At 5-Mile Point Raceway

Lloyd Holt, St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada, made his Saturday trip to 5-Mile Point Speedway a profitable one as he wheeled his modified-sportsman to a first place finish in the 30-lap feature event and pocketed $500 for his efforts.

Holt slipped past Al Cole, Binghamton, N.Y., on the 21st circuit, after the Binghamton speedster went a little too wide in the fourth turn. Cole had led from the opening green flag. Pete Cordes, Sidney Center, N.Y., also moved past Cole on the same lap. Holt took the checkered flag with Cordes less than a quarter length back.

Pete Hulbert and Don

Beagell, Binghamton; Norm Norton, Clarks Summit; Larry Catlin, South Waverly; Cliff Norton, Derby, N.Y.; Chuck Akulis, Windsor, N.Y.; and Carl Nagel, Kings Point, rounded out the top ten finishers.

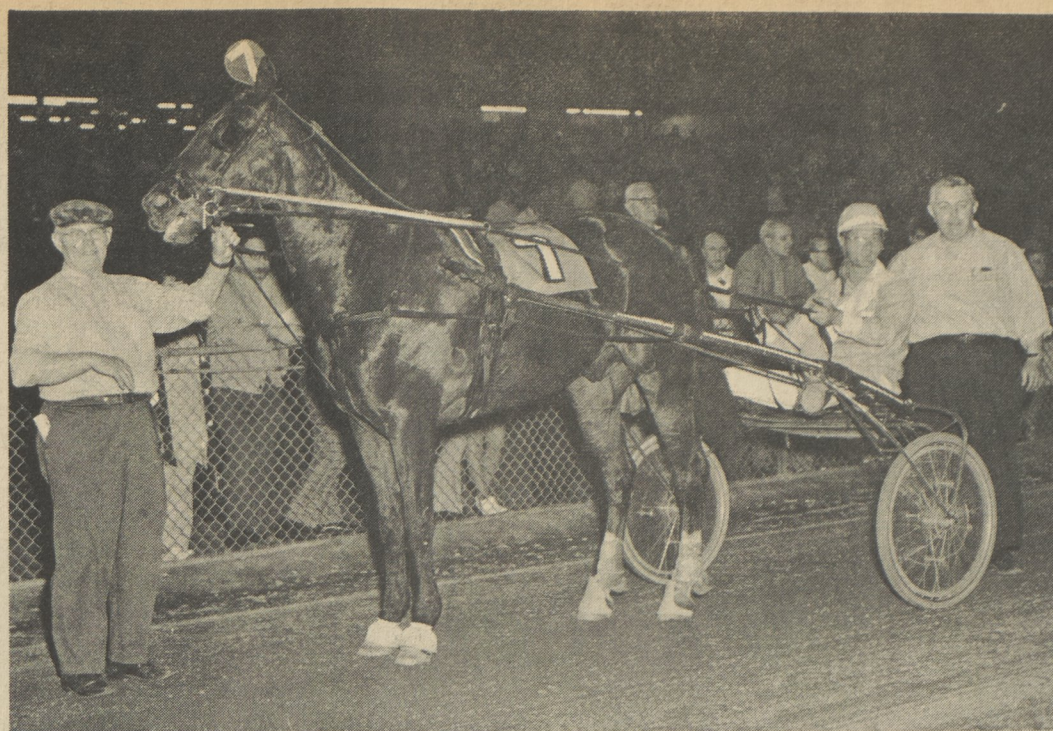

Dick Longstreet, Clarks Summit, dominated the late models for the second consecutive week, winning the 20-lap feature by nearly half a lap. Mike Colsten, Binghamton; Art Riek, Johnson City, N.Y.; Len Bailey, and Marv Goodwin, Binghamton, completed the top five.

Norm Norton, Pete Hulbert, Chuck Akulis, and Chuck Mc-

Daniels, Kirkwood, N.Y., won preliminary events in the modified-sportsman category, while Marv Goodwin, Dick Longstreet, Gary Beagell, Binghamton, and Dave Vicks, Tunkhannock, copped the late-model prelims in the ten-event action-packed program.

Saturday night, another twin-bill program of modified-sportsman and late models will provide the action with racetime set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 31, the URC

Super Sprints will share the card with the late models. Racetime for the special holiday show is 6:30 p.m.

Brushed Paint, owned by Leon Emanuel, Dallas, who is shown in the winner's circle at right, paid $62.20 last week at Pocono Downs. The trotter, driven by Al Ingram, figured in a $270 daily double.

Pocono 500 Lists Lineup Of Special Racing Events

Gentlemen, start your engines.

That familiar cry will echo from Pocono International Speedway at Long Pond, Saturday, July 3 when 33 of the world's greatest automobile drivers will compete in the "Shaefer 500."

Track manager, Bill Marvel, expects a crowd of over 150,000 fans to witness the running of what has been termed the second jewel in automobile's triple crown. The first, of course, is the time honored Indianapolis, which will be staged this Saturday. The other is the California 500-miler scheduled at Ontario Motor Speedway over the Labor Day weekend.

Advance ticket sales, reported at a press conference held in Scranton last week at the Hilton Inn, showed that some 25,000 reserved seats have already been sold for this classic race. And the orders for choice duets are coming in every day as the day of the race approaches.

Actually, there'll be an entire week of racing at Pocono with the fans expected to lure record-breaking crowds to watch the qualifying events. The admission charge for the trials is low enough to permit family groups to see the world's greatest drivers in action.

The Pocono International Raceway is quite unique. Where Indianapolis and Ontario feature standard, four-cornered ovals with high-banking, Pocono is a tri-oval arrangement, sporting banking of 14, eight and seven degrees, straights of 3740, 3055, and 1780 feet, and an overall length of 2½ miles.

Famed drivers Mario Andretti, Mimi McElreath and Jim Hurtubise are convinced lap speeds in the neighborhood of 180 miles per hour are possible. Hurtubise puts it this way: "I think the times at Pocono will be a lot faster than Indy because you only have three corners to Indy's four."

The Pocono track is not merely unique in its use of three corners instead of the traditional four. The raceway is an entire planned complex, having, in addition to the 2½ mile championship tri-oval, a 1.8 mile road course and a 3-mile grand prix course.

Dr. Joseph Mattioli, chairman of the board of directors at Pocono International Raceway, is confident the new track will give the economy of the entire region a real shot in the arm. Race fans have been making hotel and motel reservations for stays of a week and longer prior to the running of the 500.

Tickets for the race are on sale at the Hilton Inn in Scranton and the Square Record Shop in Wilkes Barre. Prices range from $30 to $15 for reserved seats. General admission tickets will go on sale at the track on the morning of the race.

Those who follow the sports beat have labeled automobile racing as "the sport of the seventies." Pocono International Raceway backers hope it's the sport not only of the seventies but for years to come.

Many exciting events are being planned to accompany this history making event. Starting with Saturday, June 19, the opening day of the track, the Luzerne Agency will have a mayor's breakfast, at which many of the racing celebrities will be in attendance. Following the breakfast, a caravan will go to the raceway for the opening day ceremonies, and everyone attending the breakfast will be admitted to the raceway.

On Monday, June 21 at 12 noon, a luncheon and fashion show will be held honoring the drivers wives and guests at the Penn Stroud Motor Inn in Stroudsburg. Fashions will be modeled by the princesses of the Pocono Laurel 500 Race Festival.

The next big event will be the Pocono Laurel 500 Race Festival Queens Ball, which will be held Wednesday evening, June 23 at Mt. Airy Lodge. Mario Andretti will be on hand to crown the queen and will be joined by many of his cohorts from the racing fraternity.

On Monday, June 28, the Schaefer 500 Celebrity Golf Classic will be held at, and hosted by, Le Chateau. Many of the racing personnel, news media members, and racing officials will join celebrities from the sports and entertainment world in this event. All proceeds from the golf classic will go to the United States Auto Club Benevolent Fund. Representing USAC, as hosts, are racing drivers, Johnny Rutherford and Lolyd Ruby.

On the evening of June 28, the White Haven Industrial Development Agency will host a dinner in honor of the racing team that wins the coveted pole position. The dinner will be held at Le Chateau at 7 p.m. In addition to the dinner and award presentation, a floor show will be put on by the "Goldiggers."

On Sunday, July 4 at 10 a.m., the Schaefer 500 Victory Brunch will be held at Mt. Airy Lodge. This informal affair will be held to honor the driver and winning team of this history making event.

The track will officially open for practice Saturday, June 19 and will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. thru June 25.

On Saturday, June 26 and Sunday, June 27, the drivers will vie, in two action packed days of qualifications, for one of the 33 starting positions. Admission on practice days is 50 cents per person and on qualifying days the cost will be $2 per person.

On Sunday, June 27, if you are carrying a camera, you will be admitted for $1 (half price), this being Camera Day sponsored by Kodak.

The public will be allowed to park in the infield on all practice and qualifying days. On race day the infield will be open only to pedestrian traffic.

The Pocono parking lots will be open to fans on Thursday, July 1, for those who wish to arrive early and avoid the rush. Parking is free of charge. For those having a group coming by chartered bus, they may request special parking passes by writing William R. Marvel, Sr.

Penn State Coach to Head Cage Clinic at St. Andrew

Penn State University head cage coach, John Bach, will join the Camp St. Andrew basketball clinic staff for his third consecutive year, it was announced by the Rev. Francis J. Houston, campdirector.

Coach Bach, a former Boston Celtics star, served at Fordham University as director of athletics and basketball coach for 18 years. He is a former chairman of Madison Square Garden NIT competition and served on the Olympic Selection Committee.

Another returnee to this season's staff will be George Raveling, assistant basketball mentor at University of Maryland. George, a graduate of St. Michael's School for Boys, captained the Villanova University squad his senior year. As a scout he was instrumental in recruiting John Jones and All-American Howard Porter.

The past season, Coach Raveling's Maryland frosh team compiled a 16-0 record with Mansfield's McMillan a member of the squad. Local cage fans remember Raveling playing with high school all-star teams and as a member of the Wilkes-Barre Barons.

Three basketball clinics are scheduled this season under the direction of Jim Atherton, Luzerne County Community College coach. They will be conducted the weeks of June 26-July 2, July 3-9 and Aug 7-13, for young boys, 12 years of age and older, interested in becoming better players.

Camp opens June 26 and continues for eight weeks. Reservations are now being accepted for clinics and regular camping periods by the Rev. Francis J. Houston, 36 S. Washington St., Wilkes-Barre.

Camp St. Andrew Adds Mat Coaches

Jim Sauve, Gettysburg College head wrestling coach, and Bob Fehrs, assistant wrestling coach at Harvard University, will serve as staff instructors at Camp St. Andrew's clinics this summer, according to John Reese, Wilkes College coach and clinic director.

Sauve, a graduate of West Chester State College, coached the frosh teams at Maryland and West Point before joining that Leroy Alitz, Army's varsity coach, will be a member of the staff.

Fehrs, an outstanding wrestler at Michigan University, was a three-time Big Ten champion. He was assistant coach at Pittsburgh before going to Harvard.

the Leroy Alitz, Army's varsity coach, will be a member of the staff.

Camp St. Andrew wrestling clinics are scheduled from Aug. 1 to 6 for wrestlers with limited experience in the junior high age group; and from Aug 15 to 20 for experienced wrestlers desiring to learn advanced techniques.

Regular camping periods begin June 26 and continue for 8 weeks. Applications are now available for all camp activities including basketball and swim clinics and the Boy Scout program.
