

Lake-Lehman Directors Consider Bussing Requests

A contingent of Oak Hill parents appeared before the Lake-Lehman School Board Sept. 14 to seek consideration of two transportation requests and to inquire about "belated renovations" to a new kindergarten area in the cafeteria of the Lehman Elementary School.

Spokesman for the group was Rudolf Schleich, who sought to have the kindergarten bus stop at Oak Hill changed from the junction of Oak Hill and Vine Street to the junction of Oak Hill and Hilltop Avenue. "Having the bus pick up children at the lower circle gives rise to a situation that is fraught with danger," Mr. Schleich asserted. He also noted that of the 12 kindergarten students who are picked up at the Oak Hill stop, 11 live in the upper circle.

School Board President Edgar J. Lashford suggested that the school bus stop at the upper circle on a trial basis for one week; following that time, the transportation committee and administration will decide which stop is more satisfactory.

Mr. Schleich also asked the board to consider splitting a bus run into two sections to cut down on the "inordinately long time it takes our youngsters to get to school."

"If we split a run," answered Mr. Lashford, "we're talking about buying another bus; that's a lot of money. We'll buy one when we need one, but right now it isn't that much of an inconvenience to the children, time-wise."

Superintendent Robert Z. Belles explained that an unexpectedly high number of new students had registered late this summer, thus accounting for the delay in setting up classroom facilities for the kindergarten class at Lehman Elementary. "We just weren't ready for them," Mr. Belles observed.

Nancy Campbell was named to teach the new kindergarten class.

A similar situation arose in Ross Township, Mr. Belles stated, when only four kindergarten students registered. "If we'd known in advance that there would be 12 students from Ross, we could have had a kindergarten class there rather than having to enroll them at Lake Elementary," the superintendent said.

A series of recommendations pertaining to the collection of school taxes were made to the school board through a letter from Harry E. Moat, accountant for the school district. The suggestions will be considered by the board's solicitor before action is taken, said Mr. Lashford.

The purchase of three six-foot high room dividers for use in the high school and Lehman Jackson building was approved by the board subject to receipt of bids on the items.

Letters of resignation were accepted from Herman F. Whitesell, Ross Elementary custodian, and from Kathryn E. Downs, high school cafeteria worker. Mrs. Downs will serve instead as a teacher's aid in the Lehman Elementary School, and William Price will replace Mr. Whitesell as custodian at the Ross building.

Mr. Belles noted that a custodian's position is open at the high school; interested persons may contact him at the administration building.

In addition to Mrs. Downs, seven other women were hired to serve as teacher aides. They are Natalie Kern, Nancy Oliver, Liva Harris, Florence Gensel, Louise Evnas, Alice Walsh, and Barbara Simms.

Dr. Lewis B. Thomas, Lake Silkworth physician who has served as team doctor for the past two years, was named again to that position. His responsibilities include examining school athletes and attending Lake-Lehman's football games.

Tuition and transportation fees will be paid by the Lake-Lehman School District for Bryan Simms, who will attend the transitional class at Dallas again this year. The board also directed Solicitor Charles D. Lemmond Jr. to investigate the possibility of reimbursement for tuition paid for a Jackson Township student who attends the Custer Street School in Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. Gordon Dawe was named to replace Marilyn Smith as school nurse during the latter's four-month leave of absence.

Due to a tightened deadline schedule, no publicity information can be accepted later than 4 p.m. Monday unless the event takes place that day or night.
