Drivers Should Watch for Deer

Motorists in Pennsylvania are reminded by the Game Commission that more deer will be killed on the state's highways during the hunting seasons than at any other time of year. Whitetails will be particularly active during the period. Hunters' movements during small and big game seasons stir up spooky whitetails which head for other hiding places, often crossing highways to reach their destination. Drivers should be constantly alert for whitetails which may suddenly bound onto the road in front of vehicles. The danger can be as great in the daytime as at night. And, while the problem is generally more acute in "deer country," drivers should know that vehicles killed deer last year in every county of the state, including Philadelphia. Reduced speed lessens the danger. Deer, like most forms of wildlife, are creatures of habit and often follow the same trails and cross highways at the same locations. Warning signs have been placed along roads where whitetails frequently cross. These signs, if heeded, can save lives of both wildlife and motorists. However, whitetails can be expected to cross highways at any location. And watch for that second deer. Often a driver misses a whitetail, relaxes, and then hits another deer.

School Visitation Enables Parents-Teachers to Confer

National Education Week was observed Monday night at Lake-Lehman High School through a visitation program which provided the approximately 75 parents in attendance with an on-the-scene view of classroom facilities, teaching materials and school policies. The two-hour visitation was divided into six 20-minute sessions to permit parents to visit with teachers in various curricula. Three special sessions were conducted by members of the school's administration. "School Discipline, Dress Code and Student Behavior" was the topic of a talk by John Zaleskas, assistant high school principal; Michael Toole, home and school visitor; and Hazel Baer, guidance counselor. Anthony Marchakitus, high school principal, discussed "School District Problems and the Future of Lake-Lehman School District" while Sylvia Bator, guidance counselor, informed interested parents of the procedure their youngsters should follow in applying to the colleges of their choice. In most classrooms, attractive bulletin boards and displays of books and materials provided colorful backdrops for the informative discussion groups. At the conclusion of the evening, several parents observed that the theme of National Education Week—"Help Schools Bridge the Gap"—had been carried out through the informal classroom visitations.

Shavertown Cubs Hold Successful Car Wash

Cub Scout Pack 233, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Shavertown, had a profitable day at the Whirly Car Wash. Harry Roat, who also owns Dallas Hardware, donated proceeds of the day's car wash to the Cub Scouts. The flow of traffic was skillfully handled and kept under control by Arthur Hayston, assistant cubmaster.

Dallas Neighborhood Begins Scouting Year

The Dallas Neighborhood Girl Scouts, under the direction of Joan Davidson, have started a new year with nine Brownie troops, 10 Junior troops, five Cadette troops, and a Senior Mariner troop. The troops are open for membership and girls who wish to join or who are on a waiting list are asked to contact Mrs. Davidson. If there are enough responses, new troops will be formed. The next neighborhood meeting will be Nov. 9 at 9:30 a.m. at the Dallas Presbyterian Church. Leaders, assistants, troop committee members, and mothers are welcome to attend.

Trucksville Couples Plan Fondue Dinner

The Couples Club of the Trucksville United Methodist Church will hold a Fondue Dinner Nov. 6 in the educational building at 6:30 p.m. Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Thomas Oliver NO LATER than Nov. 1. The boys are presently working on the scientist badge and Mr. Hayston has assigned an experiment to each boy for the next two weeks. Cub Scouts Committee and Den Mothers of Pack 233 met last night at the church.

Robert Triebeneck and David Casey, both of Warden Place, Harveys Lake, are both recuperating at home after being involved in an automobile accident over the weekend on Route 29 near Noxen. Bob received arm and neck injuries, and David had a cut on his hand which required eight stitches. He also had a bad cut on his neck and bruises all over his

Fatigue Causes Home Accident—Fatigue causes a large percentage of home accidents that statistics never show, say Extension home management specialists at The Pennsylvania State University. When a person is tired, things often go wrong—hands fumble, feet trip and eyes miss possible dangers. So when you're tired, take a few minutes to relax. It may keep you from becoming an accident statistic.

Green Berets Now Accepting Applications

The United States Army is now accepting applications from young men who wish to serve with one of its proudest organizations. According to SSG. Lon Hagg army recruiter for this area, men may enlist for the elite special forces, the Green Berets, if they meet the qualifications. "It takes months of rugged military and technical training to qualify as a special forces trooper but the end result is membership in one of the finest organizations of professional soldiers in the world," the sergeant said. Special forces soldiers begin their army service just as any new soldier with attendance at basic combat training and advanced individual training. From there, they go on to basic airborne training to learn the parachuting which is a basic part of their inventory of skills. The next step is to acquire the special training which distinguishes the special forces member. He may become expert in communications, medical services, languages, demolition, weaponry, or operations and intelligence before qualifying as a member of a special forces team.
