

Volunteers Report $271,236 For Misericordia Library

College Misericordia appears to be well on its way toward a new library as team captains for the Golden Jubilee Campaign reported over a quarter of a million dollars raised in the drive to date.

The report was filed by the campaign volunteers last week during the first general report meeting for the drive. Adding over $20,000 to the campaign total at the day of the meeting, the report indicated cash and pledges totaling $271,236. The total is expected to rise, according to a campaign spokesman, as additional reports are received from team captains not present at the meeting. At the same time, donations from alumnae continue to arrive at the college, pushing the total higher nearly every day.

The general report meeting reflected donations received by the campaign primarily from sources outside the general community, with the exception of area financial institutions who have demonstrated their support. Currently over 300 volunteers are calling upon businesses and residents throughout Northeastern Pennsylvania and will report on local participation at the next general report meeting scheduled for May 22.

Campaign general chairman Richard F. Laux, executive vice president of the United Penn Bank, predicted that the next report will reflect very significant increases in campaign totals as the immediate area demonstrates its support of the college.

The primary thrust of the campaign is for the new library needed by College Misericordia. The new facility is expected to cost nearly $2,000,000, and will service the current student population as well as future student bodies as the college grows.

Additional funds in the campaign are earmarked for student financial aid and general academic endowment.

Walter Splain, executive director of development at College Misericordia, records Golden Jubilee Campaign tallies during the general report meeting last week. The capital funds drive surpassed the quarter million dollar mark in the first report.

209 Students to Graduate As Golden Jubilee Class

The Class of 1974, College Misericordia's "Golden Jubilee Class", will receive degrees in commencement ceremonies scheduled to be held at the college at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The class received the "Golden Jubilee" tag four years ago during Freshman Investiture ceremonies at the college when Misericordia president Sister Miriam Teresa, RSM, advised the students that they would graduate during the college's 50th anniversary year.

The Commencement Convocation has been scheduled for the front lawn of campus but will be transferred to the Irem Temple auditorium in Wilkes-Barre in the event of inclement weather. The official announcement regarding the location of the ceremony will be made Saturday morning over WARM Radio.

Guest speaker for this year is Dr. Clarence C. Walton, president of the Catholic University of America. Degrees will be presented by Sister Miriam Teresa, RSM.

Graduation activities will actually begin Thursday evening at the college with the annual senior-faculty awards dinner. During the affair, seniors will be presented with awards for outstanding scholarship in theology, history, literary achievement, art, business education, chemistry, and music. The top student in the class will also be named as will all students receiving fellowships, scholarships, or assistance into graduate school. The college will also note all honor society inductions.

Friday afternoon activities will continue with the annual hooding ceremony to be followed by the baccalaureate mass. During the hooding ceremony, graduates will be presented with the baccalaureate hoods representing their respective degrees.

This will be the first year that the baccalaureate mass has been combined with the hooding ceremony. Usually, the mass was held Sunday morning during graduation weekend with commencement ceremonies following that afternoon. Ceremonies were rescheduled earlier this year when it appeared that the energy crisis would make Sunday travel difficult for parents.

On Saturday, 209 Misericordians will receive baccalaureate degrees.

WCE Gives Plants To Senior Citizens

The Wilkes Community Effort of Wilkes College delivered 100 planters to the senior citizen residents of the East End Towers, Wilkes-Barre, 90 percent of whom were victims of the 1972 flood.

WCE, a Wilkes College service organization, is financed by a grant from the Haas Community Fund of Philadelphia.

The Senior Citizens donated a portion of the funds needed for the purchase of the flowers, while WCE subsidized the balance of the expense to cover the purchase of the planters and the preparation provided by a regional nursery.

WNEP Wins AP Awards For Outstanding News Service

At ceremonies conducted in Lancaster over the weekend WNEP-TV, Channel 16 News Service was presented with the coveted Joe Snyder Award as "the outstanding television news service" in Pennsylvania, outside of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. WNEP-TV News Service has won the award five times in the last six years.

Additionally, WNEP-TV won the first place plaques for Editorializing and for Spot News Reporting for the television documentary "Agnes: One Year Later". Channel 16 has taken first place in the editorializing category for the past three years.

The documentary "Agnes: One Year Later" was written and narrated by Channel 16 News anchorman John Foster. It was produced and edited by WNEP-TV Production Director Morey Wint.

All the awards were presented at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Associated Press Broadcasters Association, held May 3-5 at the Host

Key to WNEP-TV news operation is its on-the-air news center, the only such facility in Northeastern Pennsylvania. Bob Carroll is news director of WNEP-TV. The American Broadcasting Corp. outlet is owned by N.E.P. Communications, Inc., a locally owned group which purchased Channel 16 from the Taft Broadcasting Company in December, 1973.

Kingston Township Plans Operation 'Clean Sweep'

The annual Kingston Township "Clean Sweep" operation is scheduled for this Sunday. Girl and Boy Scouts from 10 area troops as well as anyone else who wants to help will gather at the Kingston Township Municipal Building at 2 p.m.

One or more Kingston Township trucks have been assigned to the project for the day. The scouts will walk behind the trucks picking up cans, bottles, supervisors and police will not approve any warning systems that are not reported. The telephone company must also put a coupler on the phone which will be an added expense to the subscriber. There are some systems already in the area, supervisor Phillip Walter noted, and he warned that they must be reported to the police. Board members agreed to discuss the matter and try to come up with a solution so that police would not be annoyed by false alarms.

Reese Finn, Kunkle, voiced his objections to a trailer illegally placed by Chuck Condon on property owned by Mr. Condon's father. Mr. Finn has written a letter to the supervisors and attended zoning-hearing meetings to have some action taken in connection with the trailer. He attended the Monday night session, hoping that the matter could be cleared up after many months of talks. Mr. Walter instructed Chief Miers to take a copy of the regulations concerning trailers to Magistrate Earl Gregory, and then take the necessary procedures to have the trailer removed.

Solicitor Townend noted a recent article he had read about a Dallas Area Municipal Authority meeting at which a question was raised concerning adjustment of a capped sewer ordinance by the township before passage. Solicitor Townend said that he could not see requiring a developer to put in capped sewers when their area would not be reached by the sewer system until 1995. The area under consideration is Kunkle and Demunds Corners. The capped sewer ordinance was prepared by DAMA for passage by the municipality, but Dallas Township saw fit to amend it before passage. Solicitor Townend asked the supervisors what they thought about their ordinance and they agreed to let it stand as is.

and other litter careless motorists have deposited along Kingston Township roads. Police, firemen, and area rescue squads will provide protection for the children as they walk along the roads. Any adult or child who would like to participate in the project should come to the Kingston Township Municipal Building this Sunday at 2 p.m.
