Misericordia Welcomes 250 New Students in September

College Misericordia's latest admissions reports indicate over 250 freshmen and transfer students expected to report to campus this fall as the college opens its doors for the fiftieth year.

Over 50 percent of the new students have opted to reside on campus, according to the reports, while the remainder will commute to classes. The college's residence halls will be filled again this year.

Although the incoming freshman class has fewer students than last year's record-breaking class of 257, admissions office personnel have expressed satisfaction with the 225 or more freshmen expected to report this year. According to one spokesman, College Misericordia has been able to maintain its student population in the face of decreasing college enrollments nationally. The college has increased enrollment in terms of transfer students, the spokesman said, and is attracting larger freshman classes compared to the classes prior to 1973.

The admissions office attributes at least part of Misericordia's ability to maintain its enrollment to the attractiveness of the college's academic programs. College Misericordia has the only four-year baccalaureate nursing program in the area approved by the National League for Nursing, it was noted, as well as several other unique programs. The two-year associate in applied science degree in radiologic technology was also cited as an example.

Misericordia has also shown an increase in the number of male students attending. Six freshmen and 12 transfer students are men, according to the admissions report, reflecting a steady period of growth in the number of male students since men were admitted as fulltime students two years ago.

The college's new business administration program is partially responsible for drawing male students, the admissions office said, although men have enrolled in nearly every academic concentration the college offers.

Admissions personnel are optimistic when discussing future enrollment at Misericordia, predicting a period of extended growth as new academic programs are developed and present ones strengthened to attract students. Currently, Misericordia is considering several academic concentrations that would be unique in Northeastern Pennsylvania, an admissions officer said.

C.M. Campus Noted For Flower Gardens

Summertime visitors to the campus at College Misericordia inevitably remark about the abundance and variety of flowers.

Although keeping the 100-acre campus neatly manicured is a fulltime job for a large grounds crew, the flowers are the special domain of John Zarno of R D 3, Dallas, and Walter Petrash, Natick, Mass.

Mr. Zarno is a gardener's gardener who enjoys unmitigated success whether it be with the tomato plants he adds to the rear of a flower garden or the floral arrangements he seeds all over campus.

And this gardener is at least as well known for his quick stories as for his green thumb. An example is John's tale of growing tomatoes behind his house in Dallas. John finally had to pick them, he says, because the bigger ones were breaking loose, rolling down the hill and knocking out his porch columns. And all this is told with a straight face.

On any given day at Misericordia, campus visitors will see John and Walter weeding, watering, trimming...and enjoying...their art. Every row of flowers bears the Zarno signature as plainly as if he had signed a canvas.

Lake-Lehman High School Announces Bus Regulations

The following bus regulations are to guide the Lake-Lehman students during the school year 1974-75: The bus driver is in charge of the students and the bus. Students must be on time. Students should stand as far off of the roadway as possible while waiting for the bus. Unnecessary conversation with the driver, which could cause distraction, is prohibited.

Classroom conduct is to be observed while riding the bus except for ordinary conversation. The use of tobacco and matches, food, and drink is not permitted on the bus. Students are not to get on or off the bus or move about when the bus is in motion. The driver should wait for all to be seated before putting the bus into motion. Any damage to the bus should be reported at once to the driver.

Report all injuries that occur on the bus, or getting on or off the bus, to the driver immediately regardless of how slight. Willful damage created by acts of vandalism will not be tolerated. The student and his parents will be held liable. Students are to get off and on the bus at designated stops only. Students must take assigned seats and agree to share them, three to a seat, on a 72-passenger bus. A copy of the seating chart will be posted on the bus.

Students who ride the bus to school in the morning are to go home on the bus in the evening unless: They have a pre-scheduled school activity; Parents have given their written permission to go home with someone else. (This written permission is to be on file in the office and is for emergencies rather than personal convenience.) Parents have called for them at the office.

Students are not to bring any articles except lunches, school books, tablets, etc., on the bus without permission from the office. Sometimes articles are necessary for extra-curricular activities and permission will be granted if the student obtains prior approval from the bus driver and the office. The request must be made in writing. A written permit will then be issued by the office. This pertains to shop materials, furniture for the technical school, rifles for the club program, pets, etc.

The throwing of any articles is a serious offense that could result in bodily injury to students or could divert the driver, which in turn, could lead to a very serious accident and is therefore prohibited. Students may be denied temporary transportation privileges if their conduct is such that it disrupts the driver from doing his job efficiently or if their actions interfere with the safety and welfare of others.

If the incident occurs on the way home the driver may refuse the student the privilege of riding the bus to school in the morning. It will be the student's responsibility to tell his parents to get the matter straightened out with the driver before permission will be granted to ride the bus. The driver is to report the nature of the incident to the school office as soon as possible.

If the incident occurs while riding to school in the morning the student is to be referred to the loading platform supervisor and to the principal's office if necessary. Continued acts of disobedience will mean that the student will have to appear before the transportation committee of the board of education to determine whether free transportation will be continued for the offender.

Summer Excursions

Enjoyed by Teachers

Several Lake-Lehman Elementary School faculty members were active during their summer vacations, travelling to scenic sections of the United States.

Bethia King toured Pennsylvania and Ohio, visiting the Pennsylvania Grand Canyon and the Ice Mine. Robert Mischak was impressed by the historical Gettysburg Battlefield. Patricia Peiffer enjoyed a vacation at the Finger Lakes. The New England States was Jeanne M. Purcell's destination. Gail Serfass vacationed in Florida and found Sea World, Daytona Beach and Daytona Race Track places of interest. Sandra Turner sighted Cape May, N.J., as a place of summer pleasure.
