Lehman Seeks Citizens' Help In Lake Silkworth Burglaries

Chief of Police William Russell, at the regular monthly meeting of Lehman Township supervisors, appealed to residents of Lake Silkworth to cooperate in investigation and apprehension of individuals responsible for a recent rash of burglaries in that area.

He explained that cooperation by permanent residents, at a time when many summer cottages are vacant, will help deter future crime. Residents were asked to record it to headquarters, where prompt attention will be directed to it.

Chairman Alan Majors, supervisor Joseph Parks, secretary-treasurer Lewis Ide and solicitor William Valentine, strongly applauded the efforts of their newly-appointed chief and were extremely pleased with his formal presentation of the police report. In a vote of confidence for Chief Russell, the board unanimously approved and appointed his candidate for part-time patrolman, Richard Rugar. Mr. Rugar was retained at an annual salary of $350 plus overtime.

Harold San Fonandre, resident of Cease Terrace Road, requested the township to pave his street and to change it to a one-way thoroughfare. He

Kingston Township To Sound Curfew

A curfew warning whistle will blow in Kingston Township every evening at 10 p.m., area police chief Paul Sabol has announced. This warning will be sounded so that youngsters under the age of 18 can get off the streets as proclaimed by an ordinance passed by the township supervisors last year.

The Trucksville Fire Company will purchase an automatic timer which will set the alarm off each evening.

Special patrols will be made so that the curfew is strictly observed, the police cautioned. Parents will be notified and fines will be levied for continued offenses.

Dogs Must Be Tied In Dallas Township

Dallas Township Chief of Police Carl Miers reports that he has received many, many complaints about running and loose dogs, especially in the New Goss Manor area.

All dogs are to be tied, he warns. If a dog with a collar is found running loose, the owner will be fined. Dogs without collars will be turned over to the SPCA. In order to claim these dogs the owner will have to pay a fee to the SPCA.

Children are walking to and from school and many of them have been frightened by barking and loose dogs, the chief said. Any reports of such continued incidents will be investigated immediately and the dog will be confiscated by the police, Chief Miers warns.

School Crossing Guard Needed in Dallas Twp.

A new school crossing guard was approved at the September meeting of the Dallas Township Board of Supervisors last week. Jim Houston was added to the present list with Andrew Race and Walter Weir Sr. A fourth guard is still needed to cover the Goss Manor and Dallas Township Elementary School crossings. The supervisors will accept applications for the position from any township resident willing to apply.

Chief Carl Miers reported that Patrolman Russ Banta has begun a 12-week police training course. The Governor's Justice Committee will provide $100 toward the expense of tuition and material for such courses annually.

Zoning officer Leonard Kozick noted that he had completed an examination for "on site sewage disposal inspector" and was now certified. Joseph Zekas, Hemlock Street, Fernbrook, was present at the meeting to complain that nothing had been done on his road for five years. Chairman Phillip Walter assured Mr. Zekas that the road department would inspect the road and take some action as soon as possible.

Mr. Charles Fehlinger was also present to ask for some road work near her home. The section is near the Kingston Township line and Chairman Walter instructed Solicitor Frank Townend to draw up a petition of release so that the road can be widened.

A group of homeowners from Orchard View Terrace inquired about the acquisition of a piece of road owned by Dallas Borough but used by Dallas Township residents. Solicitor Townend stated that negotiations were going on between the township and borough, but a survey by an engineer would be required first. Both municipalities must wait for the engineer's report before any action can be completed, he said. The piece of road connects Orchard View Terrace with Route 309 and is called Cemetery Road. For several months the New Goss Manor Homeowners Association has been petitioning the board to obtain the section of road and maintain it as an access road to the development.

The group also requested some stop signs for the area to slow down drivers who speed through and endanger the lives of development children playing in the streets. The stop signs would be available for erection, they were assured.

pointed out that heavy rains repeatedly wash away parts of the road surface and traversing it becomes a safety hazard. Mr. Majors assured him that this problem would be corrected.

Taxpayers from Sando Terrace Road, Lake Silkworth, strongly urged the township to pave their road, which is desperately in need of repair. Supervisor Park commented that this road was never officially accepted by the township and state highway funds are not allocated for its maintenance.

Thomas Jemanowitz Institution Road, Town and Country Manor, asked if Lehman's zoning ordinance provides recourse for property containing partially constructed but obviously abandoned structures. He said a semi-completed house on this street has been abandoned for over six months and is a safety hazard to neighborhood children. Wesley Moore, building and septic permit officer, will search township records to determine the rightful owner of the property and inquire about his intention for completing the dwelling.

Alan Majors announced that Mr. Moore will attend classes in October, to qualify for the mandatory state certification of building and septic officers. Notice of this new requirement was received from the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources Sept. 6.

Edward Heiselberg, chairman of the Luzerne County Planning Commission, informed Lehman Township that their revised sewerage feasibility study was accepted as being in conformance with the county's master plan for waste water treatment.

School Bus Safety: Caution to Motorists

State Traffic Safety director Julius A. Trombetta recently reminded motorists that a new school year is beginning and extra care is needed because of children walking to school or riding school buses.

"Particular care is needed on roads without sidewalks and at upgraded crossings," Mr. Trombetta said. "Remember, children are not always safe and cannot be counted on to stay out of the motorists way."

Mr. Trombetta reminded motorists that they must stop when a school crossing guard signals and they must follow the 15 mile an hour school zone speed limit even if there are no flashing speed signs present.

Commenting on school buses, Mr. Trombetta said, "Now that all buses carry amber flashers to warn motorists that they are slowing down, there is absolutely no reason for anyone to pass a stopped school bus."

"Remember, the only time you may pass a stopped school bus with its red flashers on is when it is on the opposite side of a highway that is divided with a physical barrier, such as a guard rail or an earth median, or when the bus is picking up or discharging its passengers directly into a school."

Mr. Trombetta added that a free pamphlet on school bus safety is available by writing: School Bus Safety, 1214 Transportation and Safety Building, Harrisburg 17120.

Dixie Superpowers Favorites

By Dick Dunkel

It's been 13 years since a team from the Deep South finished No. 1 on the Dunkel College Football Index.

Alabama last earned the honor in 1961, beating out Southeastern Conference rival Louisiana State by just one-tenth of a rating point.

Now these same two Dixie superpowers are mentioned prominently among preseason favorites for national honors in 1974. They both see action for the first time this week. And they both open against opponents who should immediately test their credentials for leadership.

Off last season's ratings, our continuous index shows for Saturday:

Alabama 20 over Maryland L.S.U. 5 over Colorado

These figures are "point pars," not forecasts, and show how the teams must perform to maintain their ratings. If they do better, of course, their ratings will rise. And vice versa.

Alabama, L.S.U. and all other teams enter their openers each year carrying the last year's final ratings because we find this to be the most accurate way of starting a new season. Our research has shown that the average team will vary only 7.0

points on the Index from one season through the next.

Among college majors, most contenders for national recognition start their season Saturday with these rating differences:

Oklahoma 51 over Baylor Ohio State 25 over Minnesota Michigan 42 over Iowa So. Calif. 20 over Arkansas Nebraska 30 over Oregon Texas 26 over Boston Col Penn State 16 over Stanford Florida 10 over Cal

And the college minors are ready, too. Slippery Rock holds an 18 point edge advantage in its opener at East Stroudsburg. Wayne Mich. 45.4 (3) Butler 42.4 Livingston 66.9 (2) B-Wallace 65.0 Wm. Jewell 38.4 (0) Washburn 36.1

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION - The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin combined with average opposition rating, weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of identical strength. Originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.
