

'Who's Who' Selects 31 Wilkes College Students

Thirty-one Wilkes College seniors have been chosen for recognition in the forthcoming 1974-75 publication of "Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities," according to Arthur J. Hoover, director of student activities at Wilkes.

Selection for the publication is based on preliminary selection by the council of deans and referral to department chairmen for approval. The final list is then sent to the publication which in turn notifies the students who have been accepted.

Who's Who is an annual publication listing select students from colleges and universities throughout the United States and some foreign countries in North and South America. The following students have been recognized for their contributions to Wilkes College and the community and during their college careers have maintained an academic average of not less than 2.0.

The students who were chosen are: Polly Seleski, Rockville, Md.; Jenny Wunder, East Stroudsburg; Ann Rapoch, Taylor; Nancy Schultz, Salem, N.J.; Maureen Kortbawi, North Brunswick, N.J.; Kit McCarty, Amblar; Carol Zambetti, Pittston; and Beth Kaye, Roslyn, L.I., N.Y.

Linda Holonia, Pittston; John Chakmakas, Schenectady, N.Y.; Terry Blaum, Wilkes-

Barre; Michael Stambaugh, Wyoming; Nancy Rodda, Dallas; Marilyn Olejnik, Dupont; Carol Drahus, Laflin; and Mariellen Scott, Sheatown; Richard Clompus, West Chester; Vince Matteo, Jamesburg, N.J.; Jane Matalavage, Downville, N.Y.; Cynthia Lenahan, Wilkes-Barre; John Kelley, Wilkes-Barre; Kerry Graf, Califon, N.J.; Stewart Feeney, Norwich, Conn.; and Dave Matthews, Dallas;

Ann Dysleski, Wilkes-Barre; Robert Howes, Jr., Little Falls, N.J.; Andrew Petyak, Jr., Wilkes-Barre; Richard Hingston, Williamstown, N.J.; Vince Splendido, Exeter; Jonathan Keough, Harrisburg; and Paula Pinter, Allentown.

Dallas resident Dr. Rudolf Schleich, right, academic dean of King's College, is pictured with Dr. Charles L. Howell, dean of the Temple School of Dentistry, after they drafted the agreement which enables some King's biology majors to transfer to Temple after three years for dental studies. On completion of their Temple work, they would get degrees from King's and Temple.

King's-Temple Agreement Aids Pre-Dental Majors

King's College of Wilkes-Barre and the Temple University School of Dentistry in Philadelphia have concluded an agreement by which qualified pre-dental majors at King's may apply for early admission to the Temple School of Dentistry by meeting certain conditions.

Students who transfer from King's to Temple under the agreement may apply to King's for their bachelor of science degree in biology on completion of two semesters of full-time study, totaling at least 30 semester hours credit, at the Temple School of Dentistry.

To be eligible for consideration, King's students must have completed six semesters of full-time study, totaling at least 90 semester hours of credit in King's major program in biology.

They must show proof of satisfying King's core curriculum requirements for the baccalaureate program, must give evidence of exceptional academic achievement in the undergraduate program, and demonstrate competency in the subject matter preparatory to and requisite for the pursuit of professional study in dental medicine.

Formal recommendations to the director of admissions of the Temple University School of Dentistry must be made by the King's program coordinator.

Negotiations for the agreement were initiated on the suggestion of Dr. Grihapati Mitra, chairman of the King's department of chemistry, and Dr. Frank Dombroski, alumnus of Scranton and Temple, prominent local dentist.

Also involved in the negotiations were Dr. Robert Paoletti, chairman of the King's biology department, program coordinator; Dr. Donald Farmer, director of administrative planning at King's; Dr. Rudolf Schleich, academic dean at King's and Dr. Charles L. Howell, dean of the Temple School of Dentistry, who drafted the agreement.

Penn's Woods Girl Scouts Participate in Cookie Sale

The Girl Scouts of Penn's Woods Council are busy "sales-girls" this week as they participate in their annual cookie sale. Order-taking period continues through Nov. 30, it was announced.

Five varieties are available, including the traditional shortbread, mints, peanut butter (Savannahs), oxford sandwich cremes, and lemon creme sandwiches.

Council-wide chairman, Mrs. William Heckman, Wilkes-Barre, announced the 1975 goal being 270,000 packages. She added that Girl Scout Troops throughout the six-county jurisdiction of Penn's Woods Council are participating in the sale. These counties include Columbia, Luzerne, Schuylkill and parts of Carbon, Northumberland and Wyoming.

"Monies from the sale go toward the camping program and camp development plans of the council," Mrs. Heckman said, "and to the troop, it means a boost to the treasury and a great assist to girl-planned activity of the future."

Examples cited by the chairman included the defraying of expenses of a camping trip as decided by the troop; aid toward attending a conference or inter-council camping event; or as a senior scout, participating in a national or international experience.

An added incentive program for the troops is the council's "cookieship program," through which troops can earn additional benefits based on average sale of packages per girl. These "cookieships" can then be used by the troop for camping or toward costs of participating in a neighborhood or council-wide event. Mrs. Heckman stated that the "cookieships" will prove helpful toward troop participating in the 1975 event to be held at Bloomsburg Fairgrounds, REACTION (Reliving Ethnic Arts, Crafts and Times in Our Nation).

Public support of the current "order-taking phase" of Penn's Woods cookie sale is encouraged.
