Swimmers Rise Early For Seminary Practice

Some Wyoming Seminary swimmers, before official practice sessions recently began, had been getting up at 5 a.m. to participate in voluntary, morning practice sessions for the coming swim season. Bob Greenwald, Kingston, a senior swimmer who holds many pool-and-school records and who was invited to participate in last year's Mexico National Championships, reports that the voluntary practice sessions ran daily from 6:30 to 7:30 a.m., and from 3:30 to 6 p.m.

Greenwald, who got up at 5:45 a.m. to ready himself for the morning practice sessions, was luckier than some other Seminary standout swimmers. Mike Drake made the daily, early-hours trip from Mountaintop each day. Dan Hughes, of Dallas, reports that he had to get up at 5 a.m. sharp to make practice.

The Seminary swim team, never lacking for outstanding performers, is again expected to be hampered by the new scoring system. The small prep school finds it difficult to come up with the depth needed to make them competitive in the larger school's six-lane pools.

The Seminary tankmen are coached by George Herland, school chemistry and history instructor.

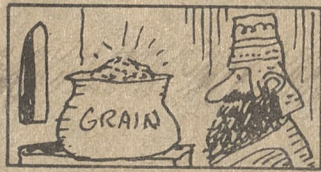

Wrestlers Night to Be Held at LLHS, Dec. 9

Wrestlers Night will be held at Lake-Lehman High School, Dec. 9, at 6 p.m. All parents and interested fans are invited to attend.

Walter Sorber, coach, will explain the fundamentals of high school wrestling, dieting, and the rules. He will also introduce this year's wrestlers who will demonstrate some of the most used holds throughout the season.

Wrestling Changes for Year Reported by L-LHS Coach

Walter Sorber, head wrestling coach at Lake-Lehman High School, who is president of the state's wrestling coaches association, has reported the changes in rules and procedure for this year's wrestling at the recent state meeting.

The teams will be classed in two divisions within the league this year, Division I and Division II.

In the local Wyoming Valley League, Division I will be comprised of teams representing Wyoming Valley West, Meyers, Coughlin, Abington, Nanticoke, Bishop Hoban, Wyoming Area, and Pittston. Division II will include teams from Dallas, Hanover, Lake-Lehman, Bishop O'Reilly, G.A.R., West Side Tech, and Crestwood.

However, teams from each division must wrestle teams in each one, and wins or losses will count in their standings for the season. The top three teams in Division II must meet the top four teams in Division I. Because some of the teams prefer to meet stronger teams from other areas they will not meet all teams in each division since a high school team is allowed to wrestle only 14 meets.

There will be no 88 lb. class this year in the districts or regionals as this class will be eliminated entirely. There have been a few minor changes in scoring which will be clarified at the meets through announcement or scorecards.

The officials will start working together at district meets and the same set of three will continue as a team throughout the regionals and into the states, and for the first time, this year there will be a team champion declared in the state tournament.

The state tournament will be held at Harrisburg with both Division I and II wrestling on the same date but at different times and a separate set of tickets must be used for each division. There will be eight sessions each day.

Mr. Sorber also reported that although the coaches recommended changing the date of the state tournament so it would not clash with the nationals which are being held in the East this year, Pennsylvania is the only state in this part of the country which refused to do so, so fans will have to choose which they prefer attending, the states or nationals.

A recommendation was also made that jayvee varsity officials work as a team with the varsity officials at league meets in order that the younger officials gain wider experience.

Deer Hunters Should Give Camp Locations

Deer hunters planning trips to mountain camps are urged to leave information concerning their destinations with families before departure.

The name or camp number or a nearby road, stream, mountain, valley, intersection and nearby telephone numbers can be helpful to game officers trying to locate a hunter during an emergency.

Women Do What No Government Agency Or Administrative Regulation Can Do...

The homemaker checks the products and services against her wants, her purchasing power, and her family needs.

Advertising plays an important role in this by directing the homemaker's attention to the possible ways she may satisfy the needs of her family. Advertising tells the homemaker what's available; offers a parade of suggestions on how to get more for her budget; and gives her the freedom of choice to accept or reject these options.

Advertising is an important shopping tool for the housewife.
Advertising supports your freedom of choice.

Who Needs Advertising? You Do!
