

MR. & MRS. E.G. KEMMERER

K. Nulton, E. Kemmerer married July 19

Kathleen M. Nulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherry E. Nulton, 74 Hildonia Ave., Goss Manor, Dallas, became the bride of Eugene G. Kemmerer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Kemmerer, 83 Watkins Street, Swoyersville, July 19 at 10:30 a.m. in Gate of Heaven Church, Dallas.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Monsignor Francis A. Kane who concelebrated the Nuptial Mass with the Rev. Thomas M. Jordan.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a formal satrapeau gown, the entire bodice of which was Belgium lace with designs traced in pearls, trimmed with ruffled lace bib and a ruffled lace Victorian neckline. The full sleeves were of matching lace studded with pearls. The empire a-line silhouette was completed with a deep ace-flounced hemline flowing into an attached cathedral length train enhanced with scattered lace and pearl motifs.

Her matching lace headpiece, studded with pearls, featured a circular, ace-edged veil with matching pearl and lace motifs. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Marian Rosser, maid of honor and cousin of the bride, was attired in a formal length gown of petal pink veil, featuring a matching short bolero jacket accented with white lace edging and capelet sleeves of dotted swiss veil in petal pink. The a-line skirt ended in a flounce of white lace and dotted swiss veil. She wore a matching pink straw picture hat with white satin streamers and carried a colonial bouquet of white sweetheart roses, pink daisies and baby's breath with matching white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Ruth Ann Nulton, sister-in-law of the bride; Geralyn Kemmerer, sister of the bridegroom; Joyce Jolley; and Sharon Mooney. They wore gowns identical to the maid of honor's true blue veil with matching blue straw picture hats with white satin streamers and carried colonial bouquets of white sweetheart roses, blue daisies and baby's breath with matching white streamers.

Linda Jean Pipan, flower girl and cousin of the bride, was attired identically to the maid of honor in gown and picture hat of petal pink. She carried a white straw basket filled with pink sweetheart roses and white daisies with matching white streamers.

Peter Nulton, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Daniel Nulton, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were James Nulton and Christopher Nulton, also brothers of the bride; James Gerrity, cousin of the bridegroom; and Mark Kachmarsky.

The mother-of-the-bride selected a formal length blue gown, featuring a hand-clipped chantilly lace empire bodice and chiffon skirt which flowed from a satin waistband accented with a cut-crystal medallion.

The mother of the groom chose a gown of polyester crepe in yellow which featured a fitted bodice accented at the shoulder with a short chiffon embroidered cape.

The reception, immediately following the ceremony, was held at the Irem Temple Country Club.

Mrs. Kemmerer is a graduate of Central Catholic High School, Kingston, and College Misericordia. She is a member of the Dallas Junior High School faculty.

Mr. Kemmerer is a graduate of Central Catholic High School, Kingston, and Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science. He is employed as a pharmacist at Stapinski Drugs in Edwardsville.

The couple was entertained at an engagement party given by the bride's parents at their home. The bride was honored at a dinner hosted by her aunt, Bettie Sullivan, at the Castle Inn. She was also feted by the Dallas Junior High School women faculty at a dinner held at Newberry Estates and at a shower given by her bridesmaids. After rehearsal, the groom's parents entertained at a dinner at their home.

Following a wedding trip to the shore, the couple will reside at 341 Machel Ave., Dallas.
