WyoSem students wait, cook for United Way

This will be the sixth straight year that Wyoming Seminary's Homecoming Parents' Day will also be a day on which the school's students raise extra money for the United Way. Student volunteers will again transform Fleck Hall Dining Room into one of the area's finest restaurants for the annual United Way Dinner, Nov. 8. Dinner will be served from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

Student waiters and waitresses will serve student-prepared food, which has become noted for its quality and quantity. For a $4 donation, the pupil's offer this year's patron his choice of London broil or chicken Kiev, plus fruit cup, salad, baked potato with sour cream, peas with mushrooms, rolls, beverage and a selection from a lavish dessert table.

The bargain that it is, the annual affair can still be counted on to raise about $300 for the Wyoming Seminary contribution to United Way because all of the work is done, voluntarily, by students. Volunteer response is extremely good again this year, according to student coordinator Bill Koehl, a senior from Dallas. Approximately 60 students will help make the candlelight affair a success, making centerpieces, readying relish trays and breaking lettuce Friday night, taking care of last minute details during the Homecoming football game or reporting for waiting duty immediately after the game.

Members of Koehl's United Way Dinner Committee are GiGi Lopatto, hostess; Bruce Buckle, host; Dana Pearce, ticket chairman; Paul Williams, head waiter; Janet Murray, head waitress; and Gordon Davies, Dallas, and Tracy Innes, Shavertown, head cooks. Faculty advisors to the dinner event are James Kersey and Stephen Washburn.

Reservation forms have been mailed to parents, faculty members and friends of the school.

The announcement of the Homecoming display winner and instrumental dinner music performed by Seminary pupils will be added features of this year's dinner.

Homecoming Parents' Day will also feature the crowning of the Homecoming Queen during half-time of the Wyoming Seminary-Cheshire Academy football game, an informal reception following the game, the Fall Meeting of the Parents' Association, a buffet luncheon and parent-teacher conferences, by appointment.

Shavertown Halloweeners treated at fire company

A Halloween Party was held recently at the Shavertown Fire hall for the children and grandchildren of the auxiliary members and of the firemen.

Chairman Rose Rinehimer, Floss Stella and Junior auxiliary members Ann Marie Bosak, Janet Roberts and Louise Newcomb were responsible for the party preparation.

Forty-five children and 25 adults enjoyed the grand march and food which was distributed by the committee.

The winners in the toddler age group included Keith Rinehimer, prettiest; Jason Misson, original and Andy Hall, spookiest.

In the three, four, and five-year olds Anthony Hall was prettiest; Patty Hall, most original and Katina Sprau, spookiest.

In the six, seven and eight year olds Maureen

Riley was prettiest; Michele Maccieko, most original; Mark Senchak, spookiest.

Nine- and ten-year olds Bernard Riley was prettiest; Tom Bosak, most original and Joe Senchak, spookiest.

The best Bi-centennial costumes were worn by Gill, Dean and Jenny Carey.

Lake PTA to meet

The Lake Elementary PTA will have its meeting on Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The topic for the evening will be, "Our School Health Program," with Marilyn Smith, school nurse.

A question and answer time will be held and refreshments will be served.

Dallas presents "Miracle Worker"

Do you want to see a miracle?

The Dallas High Junior and Senior classes are presenting the famous Broadway and Hollywood success, The Miracle Worker, Nov. 21-22 at the high school auditorium.

The play tells the story of Annie Sullivan and her work with the deaf, dumb, and blind girl, Helen Keller.

Under the direction of Donald Hopkins and student director Donna Johns, the student actors and actresses are putting in the last few weeks of rehearsals.

Technical crews are preparing for the production by building a two-story home, garden house, and office, designing all the costumes, and obtaining props relevant to the 1880's era. Manager of all technical crews is Ned Corcoran.

Jean Petro is house manager. Reserved seat tickets may be purchased from any cast or crew member. Curtain time is 8 p.m. each night.

Ski fashion show planned

At the next meeting of the Wyoming Valley Ski Club, on Tuesday, Nov. 4, plans will be finalized for the club's fifteenth annual Ski Fashion Show to be held on Sunday, Nov. 9 at 2 p.m. at Gus Genetti's, Wilkes-Barre. Ski fashions will be shown and after-ski fashions will be featured.

Queen contest which is a highlight of the show.

Tickets are available from club members or at the door on the day of the show. Joe Nardone's Gallery of Sound at the Wyoming Valley Mall also has tickets available for the show.

The possibility of running a bus to the ski area on Wednesday or Friday night will also be discussed by John Juris, Hilldonia Avenue, Dallas at the meeting. Information may be obtained from Juris at the above address or at the club meeting.

A band will play following the meeting which will begin at 8 p.m. in Genetti's.
