RICHARDS

by Lee L. Richards

Jim Alexander captured the annual Handicap Club Championship on Sunday at Irem Temple Country Club with a total of 206 for 54 holes.

Alexander, an eight handicapper, held off challenges from a number of golfers.

Going into the final round Bob Mugford, Jack Allen, Dave Davis, Leo Azain and Bob Bachman were in contention. Alexander carded a 77 and 75 gross his first two rounds and played steady golf through the first 14 holes on the final round as he was even par. Then up jumped the bogeyman and Jim had to scramble the final couples of holes.

Mugford, who is improving every week, finished second at 209, while Allen and Davis tied at 211. Bachman was tied at 214 with Abe Nesbitt and Don Stein. At 215 were Tom Reese and Azain.

The tournament trail will continue this weekend as the Irem Golf Association better ball qualifying round will be held on Saturday. This is another handicap event and is played off the low handicapper. You can play well in this tourney and get your clock cleaned by a couple of guys with a bunch of strokes.

Andre Billinge and "Gabby" Vivian are the defending champions. The low 32 teams will go in to match play. Ralph Brown and John Troup won the title in '75 and could challenge the champs.

Billinge, Jim Brace and Lloyd Warnecka have arranged a Tuesday night golf league for Irem members. We feel this has been a long time coming and should be a lot of fun and give guys an opportunity to play with different people. A nice dinner will be served at the completion of the nine-hole event.

CLIPBOARD NOTES-- Surprise, Nanticoke got knocked out of the playoffs by the Hawks of Hanover last week. They may have been the better team, but in baseball anything can happen in a single game...Mickey Dudish, the stellar griddler from Meyers now on the varsity at the University of Maryland, did some caddy work for us on Sunday to keep his legs in shape. Mickey has beefed up to 212 pounds and was clocked in 4.7 for the 40 during spring drills. He's the back-up fullback for the Teps...The NBA playoffs appears to have lost its appeal to many roundball buffs. Thanks to CBS finals are being drawn out. Celtics have too much savvy for the Suns and should win in six or less...Dallas takes on Pittston this week for the right to play Hanover for the third time this season. Coach Stinson is still confident he has the best club in the Valley this year...Can't blame A.J. Foyt for being ticked off at losing the Indy 500 by nine seconds when race was called because of rain. It truly is awesome, but I wouldn't have the guts to Allardyce accounted for a homerun and Judy Major hit a double. Lorraine Davis and Jackie Bergevin hurled for the Cardinals. Linda Sosnowski, Connie Miller, Gloria Hazeltine and Carol Patton accounted for doubles. Ted Hons and Joe Lehon were umpires.

A bunch of strokes

zip around in a machine at speeds like those guys. They are a special breed of cat!!! Meanwhile, Jack Nicklaus' Memorial Golf Tourney was very exciting and Muirfield Village Golf Club is a super track. Big Jack designed it and it has outstanding character. While there were some great golf shots and slick putts, the thing which made us sit up and take notice was Big Jack taking a seven on a par three. He hit two iron shots which backed up into the water. Knocked his next shot into the rough, chipped down and boldly stroked in a 10-footer for the seven. He smiled and walked off the green. We'd have drove in the pond...Local fans are ecstatic about the Phillies and the consistency with which they are playing. They're getting solid pitching and timely hitting. We doubt whether they can run away from the Mets and Bucs.

Area golfers invited to Scout

Golfers from throughout the Wyoming Valley are being invited to participate in a golf tournament that will benefit the area Boy Scout Council. The Penn Mountains Council, Boy Scouts of America, is conducting the First Annual Scouts Invitational Golf Classic at the Wyoming Valley Country Club on June 18th.

Jack Krogulski, chairman of the tournament, expects some excellent competition. "The Tournament will be conducted using the Calloway System so the good golfer will and the weekend players will have an equal chance at winning."

Sponsors in the Tournament along with the Scout Council are Commonwealth Telephone Company; David Ertley, Inc.; First Eastern Bank; Hanover National Bank; Metropolitan Wire Goods Corp.; Andy Perugino's Restaurant; Sterling Products Co.; Susquehanna Savings & Loan Assn. of Wilkes-Barre; John Vivian, Vivian Corp.

Area golfers should have a special interest in the 13th hole at the Wyoming Valley Country Club. David Ertley, Inc. will be awarding a 1976 Cougar to the first golfer to make a hole-in-one on that 178 Yard Par 3.

"The $6,000 car will be on hand at the 13th tee to provide the players with a little inspiration," according to Krogulski.

The committee of scouters working on the Scouts Invitational Golf Classic include Jack Krogulski, chairman, Dick Albrecht, John Lyons, Dick Saul and Tom Peeler.

1,000 expected at fire school

The 28th Annual Fire School of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Volunteer Firemen's Federation will be held at Nicholson, in Wyoming County on Saturday and Sunday, June 5 and 6. Nicholson Fire Company will serve as the host unit for this years school.

It is estimated that over 1,000 volunteer fire men and women will participate.

The students will include representatives from more than 160 volunteer fire companies, several nursing homes and hospitals, over 20 ambulance and rescue units and a number of local industrial plants.

John Chinchilla, Olyphant, is fire school director and his assistants are Don Sick of Tunkhannock and James Oakey from Tobyhanna. Wayne Novitch and James Jumper from Nicholson Fire Company are the host co-chairmen.

The school will be taught by certified state fire school instructors and diplomas will be awarded at the completion of the course on Sunday.

The objective of the fire school is to develop within the individual fire fighter a better understanding of his physical and psychological limitations as related to fire fighting, to develop confidence and competency in himself and his personal protective equipment and to further his skills in the use of breathing apparatus, search and rescue patterns, interior and exterior fire fighting, his knowledge of problem fires, leadership, pump operations and ladder proficiency according to Chinchilla.

Highlighting the many causses that will be offered in the two days of intensive training are three courses of special interest. They are a class in rescue first aid, one in diagnosing and treating fire victims, and under the influence of drugs, is planned, in conjunction with free blood pressure tests to the public.

Participating in the fire school will be personnel from the Pennsylvania State Police Fire Marshall's office. The city of Scranton will be represented by Fire Chief McGowan; Tobyhanna Army Depot will send Fire Chief Bruno and representatives from all governmental communities are expected.

The school is one of the largest conducted in the state and has been complimented on its operation and training by the Director of the State Fire School at Lewistown.

The school gives the new and younger members of the fire departments and the older members the opportunity to actually participate and receive instruction in the latest methods of fire fighting techniques which have resulted in saving the taxpayers thousands of dollars in lower fire insurance rates because of this training.

Over 100 volunteer firemen will assist in classes, supplying fuel, oil and gas.

Hunt safety course here

N.J. Molski, Supervisor, Pennsylvania Game Commission, Dallas, has announced that a Hunter Safety Training Course will be held at the Pennsylvania Game Commission, located on Memorial Highway, Dallas, on Saturday, June 12.

The entire course will be given on that date. Instructions will start at 9 a.m. and last until 2 p.m.

Youths who will be hunting in Pennsylvania for the first time this year are urged to take advantage of the opportunity to take this training.

In order to qualify for Pennsylvania hunting license, a person under the age of 16 years must present either evidence that he held a hunting license in Pennsylvania or another state in a prior year or a certificate of competency showing that he had successfully completed a course of instruction in the safe handling of firearm and bows and arrows.

This course will be conducted by District Game Protector Edward Gdosky and other NRA instructors.
