

Baltimore promoted by PSU

Linda Baltimore has been promoted to the rank of assistant professor of psychology at The Pennsylvania State University's Wilkes-Barre Campus according to an announcement by campus director George Bierly.

A graduate of Elkland High School, Prof. Baltimore was awarded a bachelor of psychology degree from Pennsylvania State University and her master of arts degree in psychology from Marywood College.

A member of Psi Chi Honorary Society and the Keystone Society, Prof. Baltimore joined the Penn State Wilkes-Barre Campus faculty in 1970 as an instructor in psychology.

A member of NEPA-The Psychological Association of Northeastern Pennsylvania, Prof. Baltimore has served that organization as secretary in 1973 and president 1974-76.

Prof. Baltimore, her husband Richard and children Kevin and Kelly, reside in Sweet Valley.

Agency holds MH workshop at St. John's

Local social service agency personnel and clergymen participated in a community workshop sponsored by the Luzerne-Wyoming County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Center on Aug. 10 at St. John's Lutheran Church, Wilkes-Barre.

Participants included staff from The Bridge, Child Development Council, Jewish Counseling Service, Malabar, Maternal Health Services, Planned Parenthood, Pennsylvania Department of Health, Tunkhannock United Services Agency, Veterans Affairs Department, Wyoming Valley Crippled Children's Association, First United Methodist Church, Lutheran Welfare Service, St. Stephen's Church and the Wyoming Valley Council of Churches.

The Primary Prevention Program of the Mental Health-Mental Retardation Center presented the program and discussed the techniques of developing parent education groups. Topics included group leadership, parent recruitment, use of educational materials, publicity, and subject matter for discussion.

The Luzerne-Wyoming County Mental Health-Mental Retardation Center, a United Way Agency, has four offices located in Wilkes-Barre, Forty-Fort, Pittston and Tunkhannock.

Field Notes

MONTOUR COUNTY: Two years ago my son, Timothy, decided to build a birdhouse for his 4-H Wildlife Project. Using the Game Commission's pamphlet on birdlife which give specifications on birdhouses for different species of birds, Tim decided (after some comments from Dad) to build a bluebird house. We see bluebirds every spring and fall here where we live, during their migrations through Montour County. The birdhouse was placed in a fencerow on the hill behind our home early the next spring. The year passed and no birds used the "blue ribbon" home. Tim had a few comments about my knowledge of birds, etc. The bluebirds had come and gone.

This spring the bluebirds came through early. About three weeks after they had passed by I noticed a beautiful male in a tree behind our kitchen window. Later that day Tim came in quite excited to ask me to guess what was building a nest in his birdhouse. Bluebirds!

Thank heavens, for now the faith has been restored in Dad's knowledge of birds and I have a "proof of the pudding" example to give when handing out the Commission's Birdlife Booklets at programs for the local scouts, 4-Hers, etc. Plus, we have the addition of bluebirds to the species of wildlife that we enjoy having around our home. District Game Protector, R.W. Donahoe, Danville, Pa.

MONROE COUNTY: Elwood Fenner, R.D., Stroudsburg recently related that he has had his share of problems with groundhogs over the years at his Cherry Valley farm, but recently upon returning from lunch to his tractor to continue mowing, there standing on the seat was a large woodchuck looking things over. Putting up with the critters is one thing, but to have your tractor moved is the last straw! District Game Protector, D.E. Overcash, E. Stroudsburg, Pa.

BRADFORD COUNTY: There seems to be quite a few more rabbits showing up in this area than the past several years. Hope they are still around when hunting season opens. District Game Protector-A.D. Rockwell, Sayre, Penna.

BRADFORD COUNTY: During the last month to six weeks, I have had the opportunity to observe several grouse in many different areas in Bradford and Susquehanna Counties. I have seen as high as 9-11, young of the year with an adult. If this is a good indication of what is happening in other parts of the State, our days afield after old thunderbird this fall should prove rather interesting.

Land Manager, C.J. Harris, Athens, Penna.

BRADFORD COUNTY: "Bicentennial Field Note"-Early settlers found that the pitch from the jack pine tree burned bright and long. They used the jack pine to give off light to shoot animals at night. From this came the term jacklighting. A word used today to describe the killing of game illegally at night. And that's the way it was 200 years ago today. District Game Protector, W.A. Bower, Troy, Penna.

COLUMBIA COUNTY: During the summer months of 1975, Waterways Patrolman John Weaver, Benton, Pa., consistently joked with this officer claiming crop damage to his red beets and beans by the deer, rabbits and woodchucks. After hearing from Special Waterways Patrolman Wayne Yorks, Benton, Pa. that John had planted his garden for 1976, I decided that a joke of my own was in order. Right smack in the middle of the red beets I placed a large blue and yellow Game Commission poster which stated in large letters "Food & Cover For Wildlife".

A month later John asked if I had anymore of those food and cover signs. He stated that this is the first year that he could remember that he did not have wildlife damage to his garden. He states that advertising free meals to our wildlife creatures is a sure way to keep them out. John remarked that animals are just like humans-you offer them something for nothing and they turn their noses up. Now that I have passed along one of my many secrets, John, why not show me how to get those darn trout to take a dry fly.

District Game Protector, E.F. Sherlinski, Mifflinville, Penna.

Haymarket antiques, art show scheduled

The seventeenth annual Haymarket outdoor antiques and art show and sale will be held Saturday, Sept. 4, in a large, cleared field on Route 309 in the village of Evans Falls, midway between Dallas and Tunkhannock.

The event is sponsored by Harmony Chapter 58, Order of the Eastern Star, and will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Chapter members will feature a white elephant table and homemade jams, jellies and baked goods will be offered for sale as a project to raise funds to continue its support of various charities.

The antique dealers will represent several states and will offer for sale a complete and varied assortment of antiques, including furniture, glassware, china, copper, brass, iron, jewelry, prints and other pieces of interest to collectors and fanciers.

An art show of special interest will be held in addition to the antiques show and paintings and art work will be displayed on the outside wall of a rustic, old barn.

Patrons may enjoy a snack in a rustic, outdoor setting at the snack bar which will be set up on the premises and operated by members of the Lions Club of Noxen.

There is ample room for easy, level and free parking adjacent to the field in which the show will be held.

In the event of rain, the show and sale will be held on Sunday, Sept. 5.

top secret sale!

Don't laugh... many merchants have secret sales every day. They don't intend to... they don't plan it that way... in fact, they spend a lot of time and money buying the right merchandise, preparing displays and hoping for business.

The only thing they overlook is to tell their customers! And it's really so easy, so simple.

Just advertise your sale in the one medium that reaches the largest collective audience... the newspaper!
