Lake-Lehman Band sponsors welcome new members

The Lake-Lehman Band Sponsors Association met recently at the high school and welcomed several new members into the organization.

President Bob Walsh and Band Director John Miliauskas expressed a desire to have all parents of band members and cadet band members to attend the monthly meetings held at 7:30 p.m. on the third Tuesday of each month and to take active part to further the interests and needs of the band.

It is this organization that provides the necessary finances to allow the prize-winning Lake Lehman Band to take an active part in the many activities and trips each year.

One such event is the annual band banquet. Chairman Marie Borton announced that the event will be held Dec. 11 at the high school. Award Jackets are annually presented to the seniors at this time and letters go to the sophomores. Parents are urged to attend this affair.

Miliauskas announced that this year's record will be a double set featuring the entire spring concert. Anyone interested in obtaining this record set should contact Mrs. Gilbert Tough or any band member.

Doreen Miller, chairman of the hoagie committee, reported a successful sale had been conducted in October and reminded everyone that the November sale will be held on the 16th. All orders should be called in to her no later than Nov. 12.

Don Cosgrove, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced the next fund raising project for the band will be the annual Christmas sale of point-settias and fresh, green wreaths. An association spokesman said those who purchased these items last year were very pleased with the quality and the cost of them and the committee proposed this to be an annual sale.

Margurite Burke and Carlene McCaffrey will co-ordinate this sale. Orders should be placed with any band member and the date of delivery will be announced at the November band sponsors meeting.

Miliauskas and Pineno, his assistant, reported the bands recent trip to Back Mt. LaLeche

Interested women are invited as are nursery babies. Following the meeting refreshments will be served. In addition to the monthly discussion meetings of aspects of breastfeeding, La Leche League also offers a free lending library.

Counseling on problems is conducted by approved leaders. Any mothers may call Mrs. Barkae or Mrs. Williams for aid.

Elementary schools plan open houses

Charles C. James, elementary principal for the Lake-Lehman district, announced plans for open houses in the districts elementary schools next week during American Education Week.

James extended a special invitation to all parents of elementary students to attend the various open houses, which begin with Lehman-Jackson Elementary School on Nov. 16 from 7 to 9 p.m.

On Nov. 17, open houses will be held at the Noxen

Elementary Building and the Ross Elementary Building, also scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m.

The final open house of the week will be held at Lake Elementary School, also from 7 to 9 p.m.

James urged parents to be aware that the open houses were not intended to take the place of parent-teacher conferences, which are to be scheduled separately. He also suggested that children be left at home if at all possible.

Auxiliary sells votive candles for Christmas

It has become the custom in the past several years in the Back Mountain area to begin Christmas celebration by the lighting of candles along the streets and drive-ways of homes in the area. Once again the Dallas Fire and Ambulance Auxiliary is taking orders and dispersing these candles in the Dallas Area.

For those unfamiliar with the display a ten hour votive candle, sand and a white bag make up each light. These lights are sold by the dozen.

On Christmas eve, the lights are placed in front of each home and lit at about 6:30 p.m. Anyone driving through the streets of Dallas last year will remember the beautiful scene as 2000 dozen candles were distributed. The auxiliary said it hopes this year will be more.

The profit on the sale of the candles is used by the auxiliary for equipment and the needs of the fire and ambulance association. The auxiliary members are busy at the present time contacting residents for their orders.

If you have not been contacted by Nov. 15 and would like to order candles, please call Sandy Sheehan, 675-3713 or Blodwen Shaffer at 675-0661.

Auxiliary plans program

The regular monthly meeting of the Dallas Fire and Ambulance Auxiliary was held Monday evening in the borough building. Ann Rowlands, president, presided.

Committee reports were given and preliminary plans made for some Spring activities including an Easter Egg Hunt for children of the Fire and Ambulance corporation, and a Spring Farmer Dance on May 21.

A new member, Edie Shaffer, was welcomed to the Auxiliary. Past president pins were presented to Carolyn Bynon, Sandy Sheehan, and Ann Rowlands.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served by Elizabeth Layou and Carolyn Bynon. Mrs. Madelaine Adamshick presented an informative program on the starting and caring for terrariums. There will be no regular meeting in December.
