

DER to allow group camping at parks

The Bureau of State Parks, Department of Environmental Resources, has started a pilot program to permit adult groups to camp in organized youth group tent camping areas at Worlds End State Park, Sullivan County, and Ricketts Glen State Park, Luzerne County.

Organized groups are defined as those with a formal charter and by-laws and formal leadership while an adult group is defined as one in which a majority of the members is 18 years old or older.

Camping in the areas is confined to tents.

Under the plan, youth groups will receive preference over adult groups. Adult groups cannot apply for camping permits in advance of 45 days before the camping period.

Inquiries should be directed to the Park offices: Worlds End State Park, Forksville, Pa. 18616, (717) 924-3287; and Ricketts Glen State Park, RD 2, Benton, Pa. 17814, (717) 477-5675.

It appears the race for second half honors in the House Dart League at the Orange Golf Course will be a repetition of the first half race. Harry Romig's squad moved into the top spot following the first week of play by whitewashing Mattioli's team, taking all four points at stake. In other games Lou Kwasny's Shooters took three of four points from Ted Dymond's team. Incidentally, Harry Romig's 47 points gives him high single game honors for the league to date, while Betty Mattioli's 36 points in last Monday's game moved her up for top honors among the women shooters. Monday night's games will send Romig's squad against the Dymondmen, and Mattioli's team will be trying to capture their first points of the second half when they play Lou Kwasny's squad.
