Zapoticky, Johnson star in 'Taming of the Shrew'

Dallas Senior High School will present its all-school production of William Shakespear's "Taming of the Shrew," April 21 and 22.

The comedy features seniors Susan Zapoticky and Rob Johnson as Kate and Petruchio, two stong-willed people who come to terms as a happily married couple.

The comedy is actually a play within a play. In one plot, Sly, a peasant, is found drunk and asleep and is convinced upon awakening that he is a wealthy gentleman who has been delirious for 15 years.

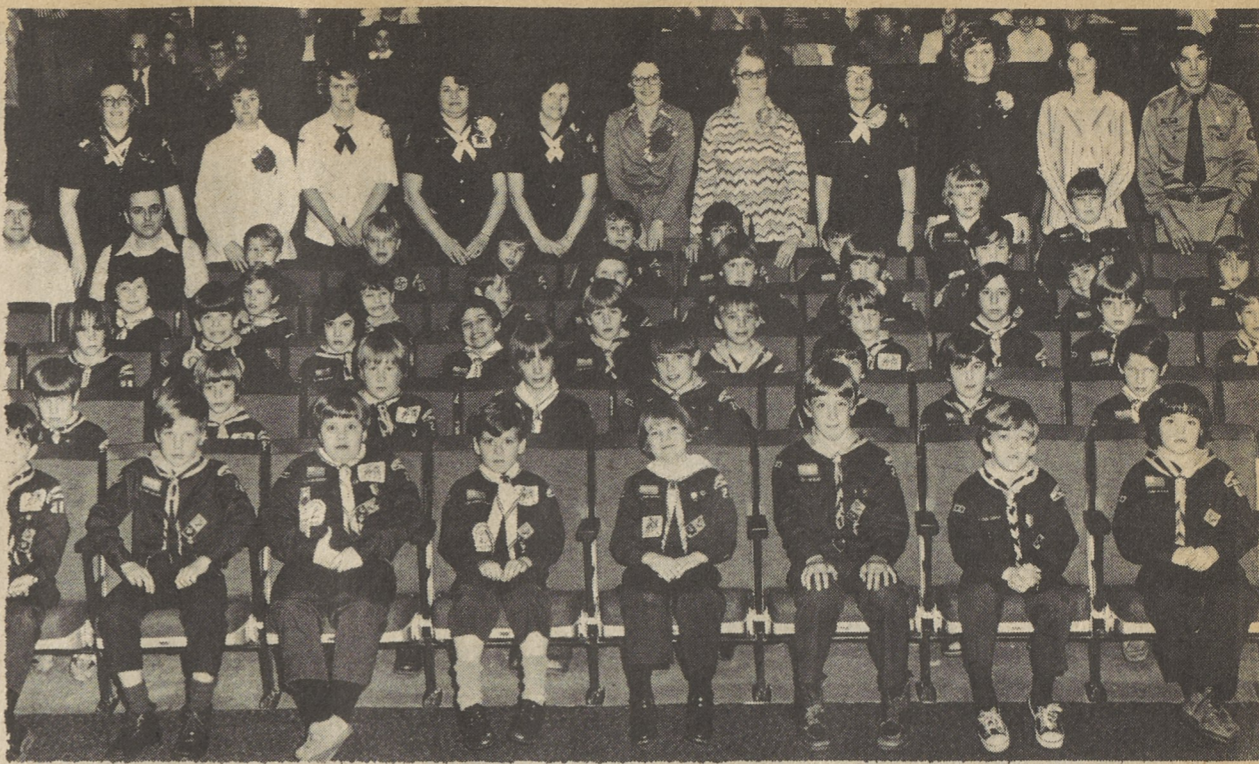

The alternate plot revolves around a wealthy man and his two daughters, Kate and Bianca. Baptista refuses to let his younger daughter marry until headstrong Kate is safely wed.

Susan Zapoticky has previously played in Dallas' productions of "The Education of Hyman Kaplan," "The Miracle Worker," and "Pure As the Driven Snow." Rob Johnson has played in "A Thurber Carnival," "The Red Shoes," and "The Education of Hyman Kaplan." He also served as stage manager for "Pure As the Driven Snow."

Because of the previous experience of these two players and the hard work on the part of the entire cast and crews, audiences can expect to see a riotous comedy which should dispel any contentions that Shakespeare could ever be dull. "The Taming of the Shrew" embodies all of the warmth and humor that have kept Shakespear's works alive for more than 300 years.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets may be reserved or purchased at the door. Adult tickets are $1.50; students $1. Members of the community are urged to support Dallas' first Shakespearian production and at the same time enjoy this delightful, fast moving comedy.

Oak Hill

by Bridgette Correale

Sorry to have goofed up a birthday last week, but what else is new. Kenny Wolensky celebrated his 15th birthday April 5, and I thought it was to be his 16th on the 15th. Buono compiano, anyway.

Doug Osborne, the Daniel Boone of Oak Hill, celebrated his birthday Easter Sunday, April 10. Happy birthday.

The Cleary's traveled to Waverly, N.Y. to celebrate Easter and the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Namath, Marianne's parents.

Best wishes to Tessa Mantellone who on Sunday, received the Sacrament of Baptism. Little Tessa's Godmother, Julie Iwanowski, was giving us a play-by-play description of the ceremony and I don't blame her for being so proud.

Happy birthday to Melissa Yonski, the roller derby queen, who will blow out eight candles on April 18, to Bernadette Oley, April 13 and Mike Rempiewicz, April 13.

Glad to note that Mrs. Hiller, fourth grade teacher at Gate of Heaven is recuperating at home following surgery at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital.

Visiting their daughter and family in Buffalo, N.Y. were Jack and Mary Gesmundo.

The Tomaselli's, Fred, Yo, Pete and Joe, traveled to Long Island, N.Y. to enjoy Easter with family while the Kishkill's John, Helen and Joseph visited family in good old Brooklyn.

The Kahns celebrated their passover with relatives in New York City and Harry and Betty Marquis broke bread with friends in Catskills, N.Y.

And those of us who stayed home were bombarded with company. All you had to do was see the clotheslines to know who had company. Where you saw four dozen sheets and a thousand towels, you knew, "That must be the place."

Wasn't going to mention my Easter menu, but I received a call from a reader saying "don't forget to tell us what you had."

All I can say is if my refrigerator blew-up, it would do me a favor.

To start - our Easter really begins the day before Ash Wednesday, which is fat Tuesday. We prepare a feast that could easily last the 40 days. Then during Lent we observe a strict fast, one light meal a day. Only on Sundays would we go bananas.

After Holy Thursday and Good Friday observances, we anxiously wait three minutes after noon Holy Saturday, then attack.

This Saturday, I prepared a mini smorgasbord that could choke a couple of horses. We started off with homemade red wine, baked macaroni minesta, which is one of the most delicious, but gassiest dishes in the world. (It consists of greens, cabbage, escarole, endive, dandelions, pigs feet, spare ribs, sausage and salomi.) A sausage pie; escarole pie; potato croquets; cheese balls with bread sticks; turkey with the stuffing and gravy; rice balls; artichoke pie, egg plant parmigan.

Now if that wasn't enough, we had to have homemade baked goods: grain pie, creme puffs and walnut tarts.

At that point, my company gave up, rolled onto the carpet and died. I'm not kidding. My brother Jim lay down on the rug at 8 p.m. and the Easter bunny woke him up the following morning.

After Mass, we gathered again around the dinner table and started all over again with antipasto, escarole soup, ravioli, meatballs, sausage, eye round, turkey, ham, sweet potatoes, stuffed mushrooms and on into the freshly baked cheese cakes, peanut cake, etc.

Its a lot of work preparing and serving, but its so gratifying when you share with people you love. And this Easter we were fortunate to enjoy our holiday with my brother Jim and his family from Lynbrook, N.Y., the Batkas and the Iwanowskis.

And speaking of the Iwanowskis remember "He ain't heavy-he's my brother Ray?" He said, "the food in this house keeps multiplying like the miracle of the loaves and fishes."
