RICHARDS

by Lee L. Richards CLIPBOARD NOTES: We've been following the feud between Ohio State and Michigan State for the last year. Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes blew the whistle on the Spartans for a heap of NCAA rule infractions. They were all valid. In turn, the student newspaper at Michigan State made some absurd allegations that Woody was breaking the rules, too. Not so. The NCAA at the present time is looking into the Buckeye program. Having been associated with the Buckeye program in a small capacity since 1968 we've always found them to be straight-arrow. There's no-way Coach Hayes would bend or allow to be bent any of the rules. Look for the NCAA to be just wasting its time...We do anticipate them to nail Oklahoma, Okie State and Houston with a year or two suspension...One of the area's highly regarded grid officials discussed some schoolboy football with us recently. This classmen. John Rusonis is gentleman went into detail leading the team in hitting. about why he considers His three clouts against Lake-Lehman Coach, Rich Dallas (double, triple and Gorgone, as one of the best homer) still have Coach Jerry Stinson buzzing. in the area. He said, Shortstop Ray Leskowsky "Disregard his won and loss record and look at how is hitting around the .400 well he has his people premark.. Coach Comitz says, pared for each game. Sure "We've been working to improve our defensive they lost some games, but skills. I think we've got the standing on the field and listening to them, they are confidence to play more consistently over the next well coached and bowed part of the season." because they were simply out personneled." Accord-Knights are currently tied ing to several sources close for second place with Hanover. What really to the scene, the Lake-

hampered them was only

12 innings of pre-season

play. As a team Knights have 49 hits in five

Gorgone..one of the best games...Meanwhile, with GAR bowing Monday, Dallas has assumed a two game bulge. Coach Stinson said, "We've been trying to improve our defense and cut down on the errors. We're starting to arrive with the bats, too. Steve Skammer, Steve Jones and Dave Thomas are hitting real well, but they're capable of hitting even better. Then we could bust loose." In 26 innings, Skammer has fanned 49 batters...Dallas is 9-1 overall...Appalled at the Flyers bowing in OT to Boston on Sunday night in the skate for Mr. Stanley's Cup. They made a brilliant come back from 3-zip, but a cheap goal cost them. We admire the Flyers for the tenacity in which they skate. Regardless of how far down in the scoring column they may be, they really believe they can still win. They made some remarkable comebacks vs. Maple Leafs...Brace yourself Nittany Lion fans. Not only will the Lions play a 5-2 defense, which they copied from Tennessee, but top frosh linebackers Matt Millen and Bruce Clark are your two new defensive tackles. A position they were hurting at last sea-

We hope this talented young man lands a teaching and coaching position locally. It would be a crime to lose a coach of his caliber...We became a little provolked last week upon reading about a scholastic gridder from Valley West who had signed with a college to play football. In the article it stated "others seeking his services were Maryland and Ohio State. Baloney! I don't know who wrote the article, but the lad was never visited by a coach of either university. Also, if the Buckeyes or Terps were that interested we're sure they'd had him visit their campus. Too many times we've read where a youngster has

L-L netmen lost to Valley West

Jim Carroll took his singles match and Carroll and Mike Kyle defeated their doubles partners to give the Lake-Lehman Knights their two points in their 5-2 loss to Wyoming Valley West, Wednesday afternoon.

Carroll defeated A. Kanter of Valley West 6-3, 7-4. Teammate Mark Smith of the Knights lost to Former Dallas player makes Cornell baseball team

Jen supulski, freshman at Cornell, and member of the Dallas Senior High School varsity baseball championship team in 1975 and 76, has earned an infield position on the freshman baseball team at Cornell.

Playing third base, Supulski is part of a strong infield which has played a major role in Cornell's four consecutive wins.

Losing their opening game 8-3 to Ithaca College, the Cornell JV's took a doubleheader from Cortland State, 2-1 and 5-3. The past week Cornell took revenge for their opening day loss by sweeping a doubleheader from Ithaca. Supulski drove out three hits in the double win.
