130 runners expected for Bicentennial Run

Some 130 long-distance runners from throughout the East have registered for the Back Mountain Second Annual Bicentennial Run to be held June 5.

According to organizer Tim Bauman, runners from as far away as Syracuse have registered for the run and will be competing against many local runners, including high school students. The race attracts runners of all ages, he noted, and is so designed that each runner competes with others in the same category.

There is an open champions award for the first runner to complete the 10.3 mile course, awards for up to tenth place, and special awards for older runners.

The run will begin on the College Misericordia campus at 11 Sunday morning and will continue in and around Dallas through a specially marked course. There are traffic control personnel and aid stations throughout the course, Bauman said.

Last year Ray Krombel from G.A.R. High School completed the course in 53 minutes, 58 seconds. His high school also won the team trophy for the day. The race is beginning to attract national attention, Bauman said, and hopefully will become one of the major Eastern races.
