Parents of teens program

The Family Service Association of Wyoming Valley is once again continuing its Family Life Education Program by inviting registrations in its new series of educational workshops for parents of teenagers.

The series is designed to help concerned parents better understand the problems adolescents may encounter at this particular age. Group learning is utilized in order to increase awareness of the normal patterns and stresses teenagers face in today's society.

The focus is on information presentation and discussion. Weekly sessions will begin Thursday, Sept. 29 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. and continue for six weeks.

CM schedule parents, open house weekend

College Misericordia has scheduled Parents Weekend and Open House for the same weekend this year - Oct. 1 and 2.

Parents of the entire student body will be invited to campus for both Saturday and Sunday to participate in a series of student-planned activities. Included will be receptions, student skits, and the annual buffet dinner dance Saturday evening.

On Sunday morning, parents will be invited to attend Mass at the college with their sons or daughters.

Also on Sunday, the college will hold its annual Open House. From 2 to 5, the campus will be open for tours, and both faculty and administration will be on hand to meet prospective students and their parents.

The highlight of the afternoon will be a special ceremony in which North Hall dormitory will be renamed. That ceremony is scheduled to take place in front of the dormitory at 3. The public is invited to attend, according to a college spokesman.

Misericordia has conducted open house for the past 10 years, affording the community the opportunity to see the campus in its autumn beauty and to review the educational programs available for everyone.

THE QUEEN—Queen Elizabeth (Carolyn Swift Jones, left), the Duchess of York (Patricia Flynn, center), and Lady Anne (Bridget Cleavy, right) are three of the ladies scheduled to appear in Shakespeare's Richard III being presented at College Misericordia on Sept. 29. The play will be presented by the National Players from Washington, D.C., the country's oldest, touring, theatrical repertory group. Richard III will go on at 8 in Walsh Auditorium at Misericordia. Tickets will be available at the door.

News from Wyoming Sem

by Nina Taggart

Orientation

Wyoming Seminary started off the year with an orientation program for some 120 new students from all over the U.S. and other countries, including Japan and Iran. The program on Sept. 7 and 8 gave the newcomers a chance to get to know important places and faces on campus. The wide range of activities included sports, a cookout and a movie.

Convocation

The beginning of the school's 134th academic year was on Thursday, Sept. 8, a convocation service was held in the Buckingham Performing Arts Center. Members of the administration and government participated along with Chaplain Pall and keynote speaker James Kersey.

Assembly

Tuesday, Sept. 13, an assembly was held in the Performing Arts Center. Dean of Student Affairs Alan Crocker introduced several speakers who told about clubs and groups open to students.

They range in interests from drama to historical simulations, art, music and even...A Retreat and Outing Club for anything from backpacking and canoeing to "mountaintop experiences." Opportunities for involvement in the Wyoming, the school yearbook and the "Opinator", the school paper were also discussed.

Sem's four societies (Alexandrian, Athenian, Florentine and Oxonian) provide lots of room for intramural competition in debate, rhetoric, drama and sports.

Congratulations!

Congratulations go to two Sem students who were named semifinalists in the 1978 National Merit Scholarship program. They are Sarah Bridges, a senior from Nanticoke and Jeremy Slater of Mountaintop.

While Sarah is continuing her studies at Sem, Jeremy was selected to study in Israel for the next 10 months in a program sponsored by the Young Judaea, a Zionist youth organization.

Dance

There will be a disco dance next Saturday night, Sept. 24 in the multipurpose room. The deejay will be Joe DiRenzo, a post grad at Sem. He worked at a local radio station in Maryland last summer. The "Joe the Toe Show" will be from 8-11 p.m.

Members sought for singers

A new regional chamber choir is being formed in NE Pennsylvania. At this time new members are being sought.

According to Robert D. Herrema, its founder and musical director, the Chamber Singers will be a highly select group of musicians, singers and/or instrumentalists from the region, who enjoy performing choral works of great composers and who are dedicated to the idea that outstanding music from all style periods should be made available to residents of NE Pa. by means of live performances in their own communities.

Membership will be limited to no more than 24 select musicians who will be chosen by audition. Auditions are also being held for accompanists.

LUZARC plans

Parent's Day

The Luzerne County Association for Retarded Citizens will sponsor a Parent's Day workshop for the families of mentally retarded children and adults on Saturday, Oct. 1, at the Master Host Inn in Wilkes-Barre.

Registration for the one-day seminar will begin at 9 a.m. and the session is scheduled to conclude at 4:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Accounting workshop

A Municipal Accounting Workshop for local government officials, treasurers, and bookkeepers will be conducted at 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Water Street Courthouse Annex, on Sept. 24, and Oct. 1.
