CM professor authors philosophy textbook

A College Misericordia philosophy professor has published a philosophy textbook that will be on the book market this month.

Michael A. Foley, assistant professor of philosophy, has written "Philosophy: A Common Sense Approach," in collaboration with William Mohan of Marywood College. The textbook has been accepted by University Press of America in Washington, D.C., and will be published later this month. Proof copies are already available.

Dr. Foley describes the book as having been written for freshman and sophomores.

"The book is unique," he says, "in that it maintains philosophical integrity while introducing problems in such a way that prior importance can be seen readily and discussed. It is a book written for the many, not the elite few."

Dr. Foley and Mohan collaborated on the book from 1975 through 1976, with Foley writing four of the six chapters. Dr. Foley is a native of Decatur, Illinois, and began his affiliation with College Misericordia last year. He received his B.A. in Philosophy from Eastern Illinois University and his M.A. and Ph. D. from Southern Illinois University.
