

LITTLE SAVED - Richard Tattersall, owner of Lakeside Hotel, (dark jacket) looks on as his property goes up in flames. He was able to salvage his safe from the building but saved little else.

TO THE RESCUE - Neighboring fire companies came to the rescue of the Harveys Lake Fire Company in fighting the Lakeside Hotel property but to no avail as flames destroyed the building.

TO THE TOP - Dallas, Idetwon and Harveys Lake Volunteer firemen climbed to the top of the burning building at Harveys Lake last week trying to control the flames but the building was destroyed.

Lake Elementary School plans submitted

Lake-Lehman School Directors met in special session Tuesday night to consider and approve submission of the architect's plans for a proposed elementary school to the Pennsylvania Department of Education.

The plans, presented by Douglas Trumbower of Smith, Miller & Associates, call for a facility which will house 545 students. This number, Trumbower stated, represents a sizable increase in the number of students previously approved by Harrisburg.

According to Trumbower's plans, the new school to be built in Harveys Lake Borough on the site of the present elementary school will include 18 regular classrooms in addition to a number of special instructional areas.

These areas include art, music and music practice rooms; a large group instructional area, a multi-purpose room, lockers and showers, a stage and modestly sized cafeteria, administrative suite, health facilities, faculty room, seminar room and library.

Additionally, said Trumbower, the school will house two kindergarten rooms and two special education rooms.

When asked by Director Arnold Garinger whether or not a basketball game could be played in the proposed school, Trumbower acknowledged that this would not be possible.

Garinger emphasized that he would "never be party to building a room like the white elephant we have here," referring to the all-purpose room in the Lehman-Jackson Building.

"We're growing too fast to think of building a new school without a gymnasium," he declared, "and I'll say this even if the district has to absorb part of the cost of a gym."

The motion to submit the plans to Harrisburg passed 8-1, with Alan Keiper of Noxen voting nay.

In other business, the board voted to hire Mary Louise Martini as a teacher's aide to alleviate the overcrowded situation in the three fifth grade classes.

Mrs. Martini was hired for one week, during which time notice of the aide's position will be posted. The suggestion to post the position was made by Director Angelo DeCesaris.

A pilot program, Reading is Fundamental, was approved for the Noxen School. Described by Acting Superintendent David Preston as an effort to motivate youngsters to want to read, the program was unanimously endorsed by the board. The next regular meeting of the board will be held March 14 at 8 p.m. in the music room of the Lehman-Jackson School.

Neptune

Chapel meetings

Due to the recent fire at Lakeside Inn, the Neptune Chapel will hold meetings at homes of the members.

Members are requested to contact the secretary at 639-2331 each week to learn where the meeting will be held.

All Chapel records were lost in the fire.

Trucksville firemen start fund drive

The annual fund drive of the Trucksville Volunteer Fire Company and the Kingston Township Ambulance is underway. The combined drive includes Midway Manor, Carverton, Bunker Hill and Trucksville areas of Kingston Township. Special letters have been distributed announcing the 60th Anniversary of the Trucksville Volunteer Fire Company.

The letters explain what the fire company is doing at this time, in preparation for the increased population of our area.

Also included in the letters are emergency phone stickers with emergency phone numbers for the Trucksville Fire Company, Kingston Township Ambulance and the Kingston Township Police for placement on home phones.

An emergency card is enclosed for the resident to fill out and return, enabling the fire company to record the name and address of all residents for emergency purposes.

Fund drive chairman Charles Woolbert and co-chairman Jack Stephenson said "many many hours of volunteer work is included in being a member of these fine organizations and we hope all our friends will show their continued appreciation with their continued support as in the past."
