L-L softball team eyes division title

Lake-Lehman's girls softball team, coached by Florence Finn and Linda Adams, will begin its season this week with pre-league scrimmages. The Division II of the softball league will begin officially on April 11 with Lake-Lehman girls at Wyoming Seminary.

Boasting a previous 14-1 record, marred only by their rival, Dallas, the Lady Knights line-up will include seven three and four-year varsity players.

Returning for the Knights will be senior, Colleen Crane, four-year veteran catcher, and senior, Jill McCarroll. Juniors will include all-scholastics, Cheryl Travis, Mary Sue Rish, Denise Mahoney, and veterans, Pam Coburn, Sally Galka, Lisa Allardyce, Linda Bednar, and Joan Williams.

Sophomores Toni Pall and Judy Major probably will complete the starting line-up. However, sophomores, Beverly Hontz and freshmen Chris Coombs, Donna Yurko, Sue Conaway, Jackie Williams, Carla Kuznicki, Judy Lavelle, and Jennie Schwartz will provide a good back-up team.

Lake-Lehman will rely on a quick, experienced defensive team and the strong hitting of Mary Sue Rish, Lisa Allardyce, and Sally Galka, who finished last year with a .600 batting average.

Dallas softball team ready Sem team honored

The Dallas Senior High School girls softball team, coached by Donna Trebilcox, is in full swing as it prepares for the upcoming season.

There are seven starters returning from last year and most of them have developed reputations for batting .500 or better. They have equally as impressive a record for fielding the ball with less than one error per game.

Donna Roberts, unanimous choice of Division II coaches as All-Star pitcher, is returning to the mound. She already is showing gains in speed and accuracy.

Michele Kravitsky, all-star in just about any sport, is returning to play and an even newer position this year. She has the unique ability to play anywhere on the field and is able to fill important positions on request.

Lori English, Nora Barlow, and Leslie Wolfe promise to be formidable in the infield while Alison Davis and Sharon Williams team up for that big throw from left field to home plate.

The Dallas girls lost one league game early in the season last year to their rival, Lake-Lehman. They then went on to beat them twice to secure the league's

Softball team holds tryouts

The Sportsmen Unlimited Softball team will hold try-outs for the team on April 8 and 9 at 2:30 p.m. Field Number 3 Kirby Park, Kingston. Any interested persons should be there at that time. This applies to men 18 years or older.

Contact Bud Lugiano at Bronsburg and Hughes Pontiac if you cannot make this try-out if you are interested.

Division II championship. Dallas' next and final loss came in the title playoff to Bisop O'Reilly in a tense, well-played game which ended with a respectable 13-8 score considering Dallas played two playoff games back to back.

According to Coach Trebilcox, it's too early to tell about new prospects for the team but girls' softball in the Back Mountain is becoming increasingly more popular and competitive, promising new and better talent each year.

Based on these prospects, Dallas' record and the number of starters returning to the team, the girls expect to capitalize on their investment and produce an even better team. They'd like to go undefeated this year. Perhaps they will—but then, there's always Lake-Lehman—that other and equally impressive Back Mountain team.

Wyoming Seminary will honor its undefeated football team Saturday April 1 at a banquet in Fleck Dining Hall on the school campus.

The Blue Knights coached by Marvin Antinnes went undefeated during their 1977 season as they compiled a 7-0 record and giving up only 194 yards rushing to their opponents. The team is now sporting a 17-0 record over the past three years.

Twelve of the team members have received either full or partial scholarships from prominent colleges and universities because of their abilities on the gridiron.

Toastmaster will be John Shafer, a 1971 Wyoming Seminary graduate and admissions counselor. Invocation will be given by the Rev. James Pall, school chaplain with the welcome address by Dr. Wallace F. Stettler, president of this college prep school. Remarks will be given by Antinnes, athletic director and coach and team co-captains Scott Parkhurst and Joseph Kasper.
