Dallas Township accident

A motorist cutting across a highway to enter a service station was the cause of a Saturday evening accident along Route 309, Dallas Township Police report.

According to police, Jay R. Stine, 20, of RD 1, Noxen, driving a 1972 Volvo, cut across 309 to enter a gas station. Clifford A. Mock, 20, of RD 5, Tunkhannock, driving a 1970 Hornet, swerved to the left to avoid the Stine vehicle and lost control, going off the roadway on the left and damaging his car enough that it had to be towed from the scene.

Vandals attack mailboxes

Vandals continued their attacks on mailboxes and signs in Dallas Township this past week, according to police.

Chief of Police Carl Miers said that several mailboxes were knocked down, as were stop signs, street signs, and speed limit signs.

The boxes and signs appeared to have been knocked over by a motor vehicle.

Police Reports

A Dallas man, presently serving time in Luzerne County Prison on unrelated charges, was directed by District Magistrate Leonard Harvey to pay in full three fines totaling $371 or serve an additional 90 days.

In a hearing Monday, Timothy Noon, 19, of RD 2, Warren Drive, Dallas, was found guilty of three traffic violations stemming from an incident involving a chase by Dallas Borough

Police this summer. Noon was cited for fleeing a police officer, possession of an intoxicating beverage, and reckless driving. Bringing charges was Dallas Borough Ptlm. John Fowler. A fourth charge, operating a vehicle without a license, was dismissed. Noon presently owes $195 in fines stemming from previous traffic violations.
