WILKES-BARRE FATS

In the right direction

by Lee L. Richards

CLIPBOARD NOTES:

--GAR may have won last week's battle with Lake-Lehman, but the Black Knights impressed one person. Luke Richards, our pop, and former boss of the Grenadiers, said, "I was very much impressed with Lake-Lehman. It was easy to see that they're a very well coached football team. Sure they were outmanned by GAR, but they still did a lot of things well. That program is headed in the right direction."

--Valley West's Mark Duda was at the Maryland-Kentucky contest several weeks back and we had chance to visit with him and his dad prior to game. Young Mark appears to have the tools to just about name his school and ranks among the Top 10 linemen in the state.

--Speaking of Kentucky, we couldn't believe how little deception they have in their offense. They've got some real studs, but they've also got some glaring weaknesses, too. There were around 12 pro scouts in the press box checking out some of the Wildcats and several of the Terps. At the present time Terps' Steve Atkins has upped his potential with NFL. He's got chance to be a first round pick.

--Coach Jerry Claiborn's Terps have to be the surprise team thus far this collegiate season. Of the dozen or so pre-season magazines we've seen one which mentioned the Terps in their top 20.

--Another quick exit for the Phils from the playoffs and the Philly scribes are still waiting for a title team. We're delighted Danny Ozark is coming back. They can't blame him for mediocre performances by average players. Danny's prediction of there-straight against Dodgers was a laugh.

--One of our coaching pals conversed recently with some of the staff of the Oklahoma Sooners. They informed him this year's team is executing the Wishbone more efficiently than any team they've had. For example, against Missouri they ran off over 60 offensive plays for an average of 9.6 yards per play. That's why they're on top of polls.

--Several grid buffs have asked for our opinion of Redskin-Cowboy battle. We felt the Cowboys were intimidated from the outset, which has been the word around the NFL for many years. This rap was always on the offense. Our pal Randy White isn't about to be roughed up by anyone. Dallas is having problems with its offensive tackles.

--Here's an interesting stat we came across recently concerning Alabama Coach Bear Bryant. Since they converted to the wishbone the Tide has won 76 games while losing only seven. They're 48-3 in the SEC, too.

--Dallas has got to find a new basketball coach since Joe O'Donnell decided to move on. Last spring the board made rumbles of hooking Joe but decided to honor its commitment of five years. We gotta wonder if they'll make pitch to Tunkhannock's Tony Koniesky, who could bring the Big D program back to championship caliber?

--Lake-Lehman has a new, but familiar face on its hoop staff in Mike Sharok. Mike was the head coach of the Knights and will lend some stability as Tim Lukachik's aide.

Harris scattered pins for 547 and G. Chepalonis tumbled them for 532 to lead Dallas Shopping Center in taking all from Franklin Restaurant. E. Connor's 210 was high for the restaurant team. Steele's Restaurant shut out Wesley's Garage paced by D. Wickard's 213 (543).

Dallas Post girls continued in the lead in the Imperialette League paced by S. Riegel's big 255-189 games. Riegel hit 581 the previous week, then came back last Friday to add up 444 for two games and lead the team in taking three points from Goodman Florist. J. Thomas slammed the pins for 218 (509) and C.I. Smith hit 178-192 (520) for the florist. Dallas Dairy continued in second place two games off by picking up three points from the Jeans Shop. M. Ritts tumbled pins for 189 (522) for the dairy five. P. Gordon's 201 (512) showed the way for Lombardo Bakery's four point win over Gino's Shoe Store. M. Fondo rolled 190 (487) for the shoe dealer. Ralph Fitch and Sons copped three from Country's Best led by S. Johnson's 495. J. Bolinski posted 180 (509) for the store dealer.

Lions B team stuns Northwest

The powerful Lehman Lions "B" team engineered a stunning come-from-behind victory over a tough Northeast Crusader of Wilkes-Barre team, 30 to 6.

After being manhandled early in the game the Lions roared back with T. Willy Calawader bullying his way for a 60-yard touchdown ramble. The next series of downs featured precise execution by quarterback Earl Weidner culminating in a flashy run by halfback Tony Sayre for the Lions go ahead touchdown.

It was all Lions in the second half with Cadwalader spearing a Weidner 50-yard bomb for Lehman's third touchdown. Mark McLaughlin rounded out the scoring for the Lions on touchdown jaunts of 45 and 38 yards.

Outstanding on defense were Lehman's Bill Boyle, Jason Cadwalader. Kip Brobst, Bob Rogers, Mark Gabel, Matt McLaughlin who each contributed many individual tackles. The Lehman offensive forward wall of Fred and Kris Coole, Kevin Nagle, Larry Hillman, Chris Kukosky and Tom Stepinski provided many key blocks for the running backs.

The Lions will meet the Dallas Cowboys for the Twin Mountain League Championship on Sunday, Oct. 29 at the Lehman High School Athlete Field at 2 p.m. Both teams are undefeated and untied going into their final league game.

The Lehman Lions would like to extend an invitation to residents of the area to attend the first-ever all Back Mountain Mini-football championship game.

Carverton Girl Scouts reorganize

Junior Girl Scout Troop 712 of Carverton is completing its reorganization program for the ensuing year. Ten girls have registered for troop membership and additional registrations are anticipated. Girls between the ages of 9-12 or those in Grades Four to Six in the Carverton area are invited to join the troop.

Meetings of the troop are held Wednesday evenings at 6:30 in Carverton United Methodist Church. Tomorrow afternoon at 1, members of the troop will assemble at Carverton UM Church from where they will leave to attend the dramatization of "The Great Pyramid" at Wyoming Seminary Museum in Kingston. On Wednesday evening, Oct. 25, the troop will hold a Halloween party, starting at 6:30 in the Carverton UM Church social rooms.

Mrs. Roberta Corcoran, Crown Hill Village, is troop leader, and is being assisted by Mrs. Janice Fazzi.
