

MATH DAY—Students from Dallas Area High School were guests of College Misericordia recently for a special mathematics career day program. Joining with some 70 other high school students from area schools, the Dallas group participated in a career information program, discussed the Misericordia math major, and learned about admissions policies and procedures at the college. Above, Dallas Area guests and college personnel are: L-R, sitting: Gayle Kirk, Dennis Sitowski, and Gloria Hazeltine. Standing: Joseph Tomasovic, Assistant Professor of Mathematics at Misericordia; Mark Cebrick, and Mr. Edward Augustine, Mathematics Faculty at Dallas Area.

Anti-nuke group meet

Bloomsburg State College's Students for Environmental Action will host a meeting of the Susquehanna Alliance on Sunday, April 8, at noon in the faculty lounge of the Bakeless Center on the campus in Bloomsburg. The Susquehanna Alliance is a group of citizens from central Pennsylvania who are concerned with the problems posed by nuclear energy. Sunday's meeting will be dedicated to organizing opposition to the nuclear power plant being built in Berwick and planning community education projects. The public is invited to attend.

'Mudhead Mimes' present 'Happy Concert' at Sem

The "Mudhead Mimes", a two-person troupe of clowns, jugglers, dancers, and acrobats, are scheduled for the first presentation of the "Happy Concerts for Young People" on Sunday, April 22, at one. The concerts are being presented for the second season by the Philharmonic Women's League of Wilkes-Barre. The name "Mudhead" is taken from the Pueblo Indian clowns who paint their faces with colored earth, and Ron Jenkins and

Linda Weiner employ this technique in their performance. This Philadelphia-based pantomime duo has received wide acclaim for their entertaining presentation which olds the interest of children of all ages and the young at heart. All their skits are original and the Women's League feels this is an exciting beginning to an interesting new series this year. Also scheduled to be presented are the

"Tokunago Dance Ko" on May 12 and the "Jubal Trio" on May 20. All afternoon performances are at the Wyoming Seminary Day School in Forty-Fort. Advance ticket subscriptions are available for the series and further information may be obtained by calling the Philharmonic office in Avoca. A limited number of tickets will also be available at the door. Funding for the concerts has been provided by Hanover Bank, the Junior League, the Luzerne County Medical Society Auxiliary, the West Side Jr. Women's Club and anonymous contributions.

Parents invited to 4-H Forum

Adults interested in youth are invited to attend the Annual Northeast Region Adult 4-H Leader's Forum, Saturday, May 5, at the Master Host Inn, Wilkes-Barre. Keynote speaker for the forum will be Dr. Eloise Murray, associate professor of home economics education at the Pennsylvania State University. Through her topic, "Working With Youth" Dr. Murray will examine the Stereotypes surrounding today's youth, their values and how these stereotypes interfere with parent-youth communication. With 1979 being the International Year of the Child, Dr. Murray will challenge participants with strategies in improving communication and understanding youth. Participants from the seven counties of Northeast Pennsylvania will select from these afternoon workshops: Grown Your Own, a green thumb experience; Youth In Action, a creative community development involvement; Crafts Caravan, a session on new and exciting craft projects; Let's Sew, a fun sewing program for non-sewers, including boys; and What Is A 4-H Leader?, an eye-opening view of the role of the volunteer in 4-H. "The Adult Leader's forum is open to 4-H adult leaders, 4-H teen leaders, youth agency staff members, school principals, school instructors, parents and any other adults interested in young people," emphasized Holly L. Ostlund, Urban Youth Agent. The Pennsylvania State University Cooperative Extension Service of Luzerne County, 822-1109 or 455-4141.
