

Building permits required

All citizens, property owners and contractors are reminded that no building, sign, other structures or land shall be used or occupied without securing a Zoning Permit. No building or structure or part thereof shall be erected, constructed, reconstructed, repaired, moved, enlarged or structurally altered unless in conformity with the regulations of the Luzerne County Zoning Ordinance.

Permits may be obtained from the Zoning Office at the New Court House Annex, North River Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, daily between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

OAK HILL

If you 'should' or 'should not'

by Bridgette Correale

You can blame last week's missing column on the lousy gasoline situation. Last week we traveled into New York to visit our dads for Father's Day and because of the closed gasoline stations in New York and northeastern New Jersey, we didn't move from Brooklyn, Saturday and Sunday. We had 3/4 of a tank which was enough to return home with but we hesitated because of possible traffic tie-ups. (Lincoln Tunnel alone could give you 250 units of stress.)

Needless to say, when we finally returned home I had already missed the Post's deadline by four days and since I don't want to push my luck - I played DEAD.

But I'm back ready to fill you in on 'How I got a black and blue on my you-know-what.' Suzie pushed me into Ted who trying to keep his balance, pushed me into Louis who had his hands full with a large heavy box that knocked me into the basement wall. I felt like a ping pong ball. And that's how I received my mark of Zorro.

Happy to report that Shirley Osborne is recuperating nicely at Geisinger Medical Center where she underwent surgery.

Charlie and Chuck Batka recently returned from a fishing trip to Canada.

"Hey Chester, Mike and Marie Annetta traveled to New Jersey last weekend and this weekend New Jersey came to visit them." (Chester has been teasing Mike about not making this column lately, so now I'm fixing both of them.)

The Rittles, Clem, Ellen and Annette have returned from their week in New York where they visited family and friends.

Returning from Canada were the Hessions who visited family near Ontario.

The Cacozas, Jack and Marlene, the Sgarletts, Joe and Eileen traveled to Allentown this weekend to attend a business seminar. If I know this crowd there was more fun than business going on.

Belated birthday greetings to little Kelly Cleary who was five years old, June 21, Kim Sorber, her 12 birthday, June 21, Marge Angelicola, June 23 and Gene Mohen, presently living in Florida, June 23.

Also missed Jack Farrell's birthday, June 23 and his and Shirley's wedding anniversary. Congratulations.

Anniversary greetings to Steve and Irene Morenko who honored a wedding anniversary (I think it was their 29th), Gus and Estelle Shuleski, their 34th and Leo and Rose Mohen, 39th wedding anniversary. Best wishes to you all.

Vin and I hosted a dinner party Saturday evening for three very special to us couples, Newt and Barbara Brown, Steve and Elaine Stroney and Don and Cora Lee Watson. What a delightful evening.

The conversation ran from "How did you concoct the Italian Cheeseball?" to "When you should and when you should not use the expression 'should'. If you're confused - move over.

It was so much fun we were sorry to see the couples leave, but the group plans to join the Browns next week in their summer home in Lake Wallenpaupack. Maybe then I'll find out if I 'should' or 'should not'.

Margery and Tudor Davies
Visitors from Wales

driving one of the family cars. But there may not be too much that the two British youngsters need to be introduced to, according to their parents. "We have barbecues," says Margery Davies. "We call them 'American suppers' or 'sundowners.'" Continues Tudor, "Our lifestyle isn't so different from yours." He's a member of the officers' mess at a large RAF base back home and associates with visiting American airmen frequently.

The couple smiles a bit when the question of "higher" American prices comes up. "Prices are pretty much the same," says Tudor. "And our gasoline is now $2 a gallon. The basic economics are not a great deal different."

Every once in a while, though, he returns to the subject of police work. As he explains it, under the British system a police officer is a professional, pretty much the social equivalent of a doctor or lawyer. He's also somewhat intrigued by the American belief that police work should be a function of individual communities, however small. He cites with interest a recent newspaper ad in which Harveys Lake Borough announces vacancies for two patrolmen and a chief. The idea of being responsible to a borough council rather than to a national headquarters is strange to him.

But it's obvious that the tall, blond man with the sunburn basically likes the United States. He, his wife, and his hosts have gone bicycling around the lake, and they're going to be visiting Washington, D.C. and Lake Jean.

Meryl Davis, who was born in Wales herself and who has lived here for 20 years, can't get over the idea of Americans who seldom if ever travel and may not even know what scenic wonders abound just a few miles from home.

"Your bugs here are rather fierce, actually," he jokes, but quickly adds that he's exaggerating and that in truth the Back Mountain is a lot like Wales in terms of topography and scenery.

Meryl adds that she and her brother should feel quite at home in the area because so many Wyoming Valley residents have Welsh blood or are from Wales. She tells of meeting some years ago an 80-year-old woman in the Heights section of Wilkes-Barre who was from their old hometown of "Rhosllanerchrugog," which they call simply "Rhos."

But however much they enjoy talking about life back in Wales and comparing it to what they've found here, Tudor and Margery Davies have some "getting ready" to do. They're going to be traveling off and on before the vacation ends in a few weeks.

"We waited a long time to make this trip," says Margery. "Now the children are old enough to appreciate what they see."

Library lists Ham'n Yegggers

by Gertrude Moss

It gives me great pleasure to list the names of the many loyal Ham 'n Yegggers who responded to the call for help from their Library thru this year's Auction Chairman. These people are aware of what it means to have a good Library in the Back Mountain. Their contribution will help insure the continuation of this service to our area.

Marijane Moss and Vern Pritchard delivered their checks in person so they could head the list this year. The following day 7 more checks were received. They were from:

John and Jane Bourke, Robert and Eleanor Fleming, Mrs. Floyd Slocum, Mr. and Mrs. William Strauser, Frank Townend, Esq., Robert and Ruth Voelker, Philip and Janet Zachary.

The rest of the week the checks came in thick and fast from the following:

Jim and Jean Alexander, Frank Castellino, Glenn and Jean Eyer, Jr., Harold Flack, Charles and Joan Flack, Dominic P. Fino, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Gelb, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Gallagher, Mrs. Harvey Johnson, Jane Andrews Kirmse.

Also Robert W. Laux, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maslow, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin McHose, Charles H. Miner, Jr., Ralph and Ruth Nobel, Abram Nesbitt 2nd., James and Alberta Oliver, David and Joan Roskos, Betty Rome, Mary T. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stanley.

Also Howard, Jr. and Rosemarie Swain, Victoria Salansky, David Schooley, Ivan Alan Ziegler, Harold and Shirley Zimmerman, Mrs. Edward Cavan, Gerald Dixon, George Jacobs, Mildred Kear, Dr. and Mrs. C.W. Koehl, Jr., John and Dell Luke, Agnes Gregson, Atty. James Reinart, Janet K. Smith, Mrs. Anthony Walaitis, Sr., Donald and Mae Rome, Newell H. Schooley, Charles Newell, Drs. W. Watkins and L. Medura, Cdr. and Mrs. W.A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cesarini, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Conger, Ralph B. Connor, Bob Coscia, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Culver.

And Dr. Sidney J. Curran, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Davies, Jr., S. A. Dimond, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Deombroski, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Dreher, Mr. and Mrs. T.J. French, Ralph K. Garrahan, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hofmann, Dr. Stanley Hozempa, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kiley, Homer Moyer, Gertrude Moss, Robert C. Rinehimer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ross, Jr., Dr. Marshall Rumbaugh.

And Mr. and Mrs. William Runner, Jr., Carmela C. Thomas, Stephen J. Tkach, William J. Umphred, Mrs. Robert E. Shortz, Francis Ambrose, Dr. and Mrs. Carlton Davies, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Kay, James and Diane Revie, Stephen and Thoda Tillman, Wilmer and Helen Williams, Philip and Joan Ansilio, Bob and Louise Dickinson, John and Margaret Mihalick, Louise Rutherford, Joseph and Mary Sims, William and Martha Bradbury, Robert L. Casper, Frederick Eck, Janet C. Gunster, George Isaacs, Margaret Morgan.

And Edmund Davis, Roland Koeb, Tom and Martha Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Turner, College Misericordia, Frank and Mary Bevevino, Ray Daring, Joseph Flynn, Budd and Catherine Hirlmann, Howard Klein.

Hope to be able to list many more checks next week. It would certainly be a wonderful tribute to Mrs. Hicks and Bill Moss to have a one hundred percent turnout.

Shavertown Taxpayers Assn. prepares for PUC

Shavertown Taxpayers' Association, formed recently, met to organize and discuss the upcoming Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission hearing scheduled for July 13 at City Hall in Wilkes-Barre at 10 a.m.

Attorney Al Flora was retained by the taxpayers' association to represent customers of Shavertown Water Company. Flora urged customers who have complaints of poor water pressure, lack of water, dirty water, etc., to attend the hearing. A formal complaint was filed with the Public Utility Commission by the Shavertown Taxpayers' Association which gives every customer of Shavertown Water Co. with complaints of any type an opportunity to testify at the upcoming hearing.

Attorney Flora suggested residents bring samples of dirty water, foul smelling water, etc., in clean glass jars labeled with the date the sample was taken. Also anyone who has a filtering system should bring the filter to the hearing with the date of installation and removal and a new filter for comparison.

Transportation will be provided to residents who are unable to drive into the city. Arrangements are being made to form car pools.

A town meeting will be held on Tuesday, July 10, 7:30 p.m., in the Kingston Township Municipal Building on Carverton Road, Trucksville, to inform the customers regarding developments and course of action for the hearing. All customers of Shavertown Water Company are urged to attend this important meeting. At this time, they will be briefed on the proceedings at the hearing and testimony that will be presented.

Volunteers representing Shavertown Water Company customers will be canvassing each customer for funds to help defray legal fees.

The association filed a formal complaint with the Pa. Public Utility Commission against the proposed 23 percent rate increase requested by the Shavertown Water Company. It was learned by the President of Shavertown Taxpayers' Association, Carol Williams, that this rate increase has been temporarily suspended and that a hearing in Harrisburg will be held at a future date.

Residents will be seeking the support of the Kingston Township supervisors and Township Solicitor Ben Jones because of their past knowledge of water problems in the township. Residents are invited to contact any of these officers of the Shavertown Taxpayers' Association for additional information: President Carol Williams, Vice President Harry Blessing, Secretary Carol Hayer, and Treasurer John Clause.

Noxen homecoming sets 'Battle of Barrel'

The Noxen Fire Company Homecoming Committee will meet Thursday, June 28, at 7 p.m. in the Fire Hall. The following are a list of reports from the last meeting.

The firemen will be wearing a variety of hats during the three-day event, come out and vote for your favorite head-dress.

Friday night, July 13, the queen will be crowned. Also the talent show will be held. Entries are still open by contacting Russell or Jean Traver at 298-2396.

On Saturday, July 14, the "Battle of the Barrel" will be held with the visiting firemen doing battle.

Help is needed for the games and food stand. If anyone is interested contact Earl May for games and Audrey Lyons for the food stand.

Anybody interested in having a table in the flea market area on Saturday call Mrs. Milton Whiting at 298-2508.

There will be fire truck, pony and donkey rides all three days. People who wish to donate baked goods to the bake sale on July 14, call Mary Hopfer at 298-2276.

Sunday afternoon there will be a pet show, with awards being given out for the different categories. More information is available by contacting Darlene Klose at 298-2439. This show is open to anyone in this area.
