Lehman hears PennDOT proposal

At Monday night's meeting Lehman Township Supervisors heard a proposal from Robert Evans of PennDOT concerning winter road maintenance on state roads in the township.

Under a new program PennDOT is proposing that Lehman Township maintain Legislative Routes 40060, 40066, and 40134 during the winter with the state reimbursing the township for this work.

Reimbursement for these roads, covering approximately 13 miles, would be about $9,000 according to Evans.

The board tabled this suggestion for consideration.

The board entered into an agreement with the Fall Fair and the Lake-Lehman School District to provide police protection at public events. Under this agreement social security, liability insurance and workman's compensation for police officers is provided under township insurance. The Fall Fair and the school district are then billed by the township for the insurance costs.

Arsonists to be sentenced

Sentencing is scheduled today for seven Back Mountain men, including three charged in connection with the fire that destroyed the old Lake Elementary School in February.

Six pleaded guilty in June to various charges stemming from a crime and arson spree throughout the Back Mountain during the winter. They were examined by mental health authorities as part of the pre-sentencing investigation.

Charged with the arson were James Daubert of Church St., Dallas, and Willard Civik, RD 4, Dallas. A third man, Keith Kosak of 47 Parrish St., Dallas, was charged with having driven the car for the other two during the arson.

Daubert also pleaded guilty to having set the fire that destroyed the home of William and Rita Gunster, Harveys Lake, the same evening.

Pleading guilty only to charges involving various breaks and thefts were William Duda, John Burke, and Andrew Chewey.

To be sentenced also will be John Daubert in connection with similar charges.

Charges for James Molecavage were reduced when he provided police with information leading to the apprehension of the others.

Stolen car recovered

A car taken from West Center Hill Road in Dallas Borough Saturday was recovered just hours later in Harveys Lake Borough.

Dallas Police said that the 1978 Chevrolet Nova of William Cuff, Titusville, was taken sometime after 3:30 p.m. Saturday, with the theft being discovered shortly after midnight.

It was found intact in the neighboring community about an hour after the report was turned in. Investigating is Ptlm. John Fowler.

Allunis accepts drug charge

A Harveys Lake man pleaded guilty to drug delivery last week and was remanded to Luzerne County prison pending trial and a pre-sentence investigation.

Paul P. "Frenchy" Allunis, 32, pleaded guilty to charges that he delivered more than $2,500 worth of methamphetamine to a Pennsylvania Dept. of Justice undercover agent last winter. Judge Bernard Podcasy set bail at $20,000.

Allunis has been an inmate of the Luzerne County Prison since early June after having been arrested in connection with the shooting of Harveys Lake pornography dealer Allen Morrow.

HL abduction attempt investigated

Harveys Lake Police officials have acknowledged that they are investigating an incident in which a young woman was reportedly injured as a young man was attempting to drag her into a moving car.

Acting Chief of Police Lionel Bulford said this week that the matter is under investigation and that he expects the case to go before District Magistrate Leonard Harvey soon.

According to sources, three young women were accosted by several males in a car in the Sunset area of the borough. One of the occupants of the car allegedly grabbed one of the women from the moving vehicle and injured her face as he attempted to pull her inside.

Dallas woman fights parking lot builders

The attorney for a Dallas woman fighting the construction of a new commercial property next to her home is hopeful that the matter can be settled before court action becomes absolutely necessary.

Atty. Frank Townend, representing Anna Kingston, said this week that "We hope the matter will be settled before going to trial."

In an action filed at the Luzerne County Courthouse last week, Mrs. Kingston claims that the raised parking lot in front of the new professional office building next to her on Tarleton Ave. has blocked her from Route 309 and has caused water to flow onto her land.

The property of one of the businesses in the adjacent Dallas Shopping Center blocks her property from 309 in the other direction.

Defendants in the suit filed by Mrs. Kingston are Drs. William E. Watkins and Leonard Medura, trading as W & M Realty Co.

Atty. Townend said that "a great many discussions" have been held and that he hopes to reach some agreement short of actually requiring the removal of the parking lot.

The lawsuit asks that Tarleton Ave. and Sumpter St. be restored to what they were and proper drainage be provided.

The parking lot is several feet higher than the Kingston property and is connected with that property by a 10-foot-wide ramp. Mrs. Kingston has contended that the ramp is difficult to use, that the parking lot cuts off part of Tarleton Ave., and that it is very difficult to get to Sumpter St., which connects the lot with 309.

She has also claimed that water runs off the parking lot into her yard, creating muddy conditions.
