disky; third row: Nicole Gardner, Cindy Delinsky, Danielle Baker, Melanie Haberstitch, Patty Mahle, Gianna Santarelli; fourth row: Diane Hozempa, Joyce Handley, and Terry Haberstitch, leaders. Absent from photo was Brownie Terry Handley. After the girls received their Brownie pins, there were refreshments served to all the guests.

'The Matchmaker' at Dallas

Local theater-goers will have the opportunity to see the very popular comedy farce "The Matchmaker", Nov. 16 and 17, at the Dallas Senior High School auditorium.

The story is set in the 1880's and involves the attempts of the lovable matchmaker, Dolly Levi, to find a suitable wife for the irascible merchant, Horace Vandergelder.

Hilarious and complicated situations arise as Dolly involves Vandergelders niece, his two clerks and two milliner-esses in her schemes. She does find a match for Vandergelder although he needs much subtle convincing before he becomes agreeable. Audiences will be entertained by zany scenes involving mistaken identities, characters dressed in clothing of the opposite sex, quick leaps from hiding places and additional absurd situations.

Student director of the production is Alice Baloga; stage manager, William Morgan; costume chief is Bonnielyn Vail; prop chief, Suzanne Williams and lighting chief, Dave Orehalsky. The play is directed by Donald Hopkins.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.
