

Jones radiates enthusiasm

"Enthusiasm" could well be Robyn Jones middle name--for enthusiasm radiates when Ms. Jones, newly-appointed Dallas High School girls field hockey coach, begins talking about her team. In fact, she radiates enthusiasm whenever she talks about girls sports.

Young, attractive and a great athlete, Robyn is a staunch advocate of women's sports programs. While still a student in public school she knew athletics was her future and there was no doubt in her mind about her future.

The only daughter (only child) of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones of Wilkes-Barre, Robyn graduated from Meyers High School where she was a member of the girls varsity field hockey team and the girls track team.

She was captain of the high school field hockey team and was a member of the track team when girls track was just organized.

Following graduation from high school, Robyn attended East Stroudsburg State College where she received her B.S. degree in health and physical education. After receiving her degree, she accepted a position as woman's program director at the Wilkes-Barre Y.M.C.A. and also coached Coughlin High School's field hockey team.

The following year she taught as a substitute at Coughlin High School and coached the hockey team for the second year.

Last year she substituted at Dallas and in the spring Robyn coached the girls track team. The team finished the season with a 5-5 record. This year she anticipates that the track team will do even better than last year.

Following Mabel Jenkins retirement as field hockey coach, Robyn accepted the position. She also is a long term substitute at Dallas.

While at Coughlin as coach, the hockey team finished the 1979 season with a 6-3 record and also copped the city schools championship. She also had two of the team's members place on the All-Scholastic team of the Wyoming Valley Conference and Sherry Monseur, center forward, was the league's leading scorer with 11 goals.

Robyn is enthusiastic about this year's Dallas High School team and is very pleased with the girls showing in three pre-season scrimmages.

Her enthusiasm for field hockey carries over into her personal life. Robyn plays on a team in an Adult League of the Wyoming Valley Recreation Board. Some of the players on the team are from the Back Mountain.

The team plays all of the local colleges and travels throughout Pennsylvania to play various colleges.

In her leisure time, Robyn's favorite recreation is downhill skiing, usually at Elk Mountain or Camelback. She learned to ski at Camelback while she was in college.

She has played the guitar since she was in sixth grade and finds it a wonderful form of relaxation.

Robyn is a member of the Wilkes-Barre YMCA, where she has met many residents of the Back Mountain. She bowls during the winter in a Tuesday night league at Stanton Lane and in the spring she plays softball. She plays in Thursday Night's Slo-Pitch Woman's Rec Board League, a very competitive league.

Robyn has many college friends in teaching positions throughout the world. She loves to travel and is attracted to tropical climates. She has visited the Virgin Islands, Bermuda and this year plans to go to Granada.

She likes the Back Mountain area and believes there are many opportunities in this area.

Robyn asks the Back Mountain fans to share in her enthusiasm and come out to support the girls sports programs.

"The girls are doing a great job," said Robyn. "But they need the community support. Let them know Dallas fans care about their girls."

Only 28 of the 86 participants could qualify.

4-H leaders forum

Over thirty 4-H leaders attended the Northeast Regional 4-H Leaders' Forum on Saturday, Sept. 13 at the Master Host Inn, Wilkes-Barre.

Dr. Maurice Kramer, State 4-H program director, delivered the keynote speech, "Pennsylvania 4-H--Moving Up." His address focused on motivational techniques for youth.

A session was also led by John Carr, Lackawanna County Extension Agent, on "Meeting Management." Emphasis was on working with speakers and running meetings for effectiveness.

Following lunch, participants had an opportunity to attend two of four workshops.

Local area 4-H leaders who attended were Denise and JoAnn Balara, Carol Czajkowski, Evelyn Hagerty, Carol Klimek, Emily and Judy Loke, Ann Marie Lynch, Martin J. Piotroski, Pearl Slovinski, Mae and Renie Stitzer, and Diane Coley.

Dallas golfers win

Dallas High School golf team defeated Hanover Area, 14-7, Friday afternoon to hold the lead in the Wyoming Valley Conference with a 6-0 record.

Jeff Balmer was medalist with five over par for 13 holes. Balmer took four points.

Joe Kaminski won three points, Sean Havey won 2 1/2 points, Cameron Spivey took two, Dave Aicher 1 1/2 and Jim Smith won one.

Earlier in the week the Mountaineer golfers defeated West Side Tech

21-0 and GAR 20 1/2-1/2.

The golfers were scheduled to enter the pre-districts on Tuesday. Coach Charles Preece planned to enter 12 of his golfers in the qualifying competition.

The top 28 men will go back Oct. 1 for the District 2 tournament.

Dallas is scheduled to meet Wyoming Seminary at home, Wednesday, Sept. 24, and Meyers, their big match, Thursday, Sept. 25, also at home at Irem Temple Country Club.
