

St. Andrew's serves dinner Oct. 18

The Divine Liturgy will be served at 9:30 a.m. at St. Andrew's Orthodox Church in Dallas, this Sunday, Oct. 12. The Rev. Dr. W. Basil Stroyen, the celebrant, will preach from St. Luke 7:11-16 on the theme: "What about the only son?" At 8 a.m. on his program "The Pastor's Corner" on station WYZZ, he will speak on the healing powers of Jesus. The members of the congregation are now using their talents to multiply their silver dollars. The ingathering will be on Nov. 30, St. Andrew's Day. It is always interesting to find the latent talents that people do have. Delores Ostrum and John Kriel are co-chairmen for the Annual Roast Beef Dinner to be held at the Idetown Fire House on Saturday, Oct. 18. Beside roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy a large assortment of vegetables and relishes will be served. The workers pride themselves on the fact that everything is prepared fresh. A bake sale will be held at this time. It is preferred that tickets be purchased in advance. They may be obtained from Ye Olde Clock Shoppe in the Dallas Shopping Center, from members of the congregation or from John Kriel at 639-5004 or Delores Ostrum at 675-

5109. The parish is also selling tickets for the Yale Russian Chorus Concert to be held at Marywood College Auditorium on Sunday, Nov. 2 at 3:15 p.m. The benefit concert is for St. Tikhon's Seminary of So. Canaan, Pa. More information can be obtained from Jule Maceiko at 288-4605. Religious classes for children are being planned. Please register your children.
