

'Up with people' returns

The bright entertainment of Up With People is coming to Dallas. An international cast of 90 young people will appear in concert on Monday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Dallas Jr. High school.

Up With People, which has been enjoyed by millions in 42 countries around the world, is being presented by GFWC, Dallas Jr. Woman's Club. Recently featured as the half-time spectacular of Super Bowl XIV, the 1980 Up With People show is an all-new two hour production that has been described by a leading Spanish newspaper as "...brilliant. The color, movement and message permeated the hall...Thousands of hands were clapping with the highest of intensity."

The show features dazzling new costumes with a special collection of international folk dress and period costumes from the 1920's, 30's, and 40's. There's choreography with a kick, staging with style.

Up With People is one of the few entertainment productions that has such a wide appeal to all ages and life-styles. The music is upbeat-the kind of toe-tapping and hand-clapping music that gets everyone involved in the show. But, there's more than just music.

Up With People was incorporated in 1968 as a non-profit, international educational program with a two-fold purpose; to build bridges of understanding and communication among peoples, cultures, and countries; and to give young people a learning experience that not only broadens the intellect, but matures the person.

Up With People's five touring companies consist of approximately 550 young men and women, representing 23 countries.

Each cast member, ranging in age from 18 to 26, is also a student. During the 11 months each student spends on the road, they travel an average of 35,000 miles, learning first hand of the diversity of cultures and customs about the world.

In each community they visit, cast members stay with "host families," sharing in their lifestyles and interests. Some 40 local families are expected to host Up With People students in their home for several days.

Often cast members meet with heads of industry and government, and community leaders in an exchange of questions and ideas. The performers do their own stage work, promotion, and day-to-day logistics. Students may also receive college credit for independent study assignments they undertake on the road.

The New York Times put it this way: "Up With People's message is simple. People are what matter. And that's an idea worth celebrating."

Tickets for the Nov. 17 performance are: reserved seats $6.50, adult $5.50; student and sr. citizens, $4.50, and are on sale at Back Mountain Lumber, Cooks Pharmacy, at the door or by calling 675-5631.

Agnes Heath Daily

Agnes Heath observes 96th

Mrs. Agnes Daily Heath of 38 Church St., Dallas will celebrate her 96 birthday on Sunday Nov. 2. Mrs. Heath was born on Nov. 2, 1884 in Luzerne.

She was married on Thanksgiving Day, 1908 to Paul J. Daily of Towanda, R.D., who died in 1926. She later married Lloyd Heath of Waverly, N.Y., who is also deceased.

Mrs. Heath lived in Kingston for many years. Mrs. Heath has two living children, Paul R. Daily of West Chester and Towanda R.D., and Mrs. William W. Brackett, the former Jean Daily of Haddonfield Hills, Dallas.

Two sons are deceased—Richard B. Daily who died at age 11, and Ralph K. Daily of Kingston, who died in 1968. She has eight grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

She worked until well past her 80th birthday at Philadelphia Bible College. She is a member of Huntsville Christian Church.

'Stop the world' I want to get off

by Bridgette Correale

Stop the world I want to get off...this is ridiculous, here it is approaching November, the 11th month and I'm still having trouble remembering it's 1980. By the time I get the year straight, it will be 1981. Too much, too much. With Halloween coming Friday, a reminder to all neighbors to visit the Strakas lawn for the 'fright of your life.'

Happy birthday to Megan Flynn who will celebrate her 13th birthday Oct. 31, to Mrs. Rosalie Albert, a super teacher, Nov. 6, Louise Jones, Nov. 2 and Paula Rempliwicz, Nov. 4.

Tuesday, Nov. 4 is Election Day and we urge all voters to vote.

Congratulations to Uncle Harry and Aunt Betty Marquis who will honor a wedding anniversary, Nov. 2. Returning from a three-week vacation in Italy is Compare Fred Tomaselli who visited with his sisters and families.

We hear a lot about children awareness, but will someone tell me about parent awareness??? Last week number one son, Louis picked up the Post and read for the first time in the 12 years I'm writing for this newspaper, my column. "Hey Mom that's not bad - but you're funnier in person than on paper." I felt like yesterday's chopped liver.

We have just waved good-bye to the last of George's friends as his 11 birthday party came to a close. Enjoying each other's company were Mike Luksic, Lenny Annetta, Tom Sult, Scott Kerkowski, David Blazes, Tom Hession, not to forget Adele and Louis who helped share the fun.

Before I close this column, Saturday, Nov. 2, Gate of Heaven's Altar and Rosary Society will conduct its second annual Talent Auction in the school's auditorium beginning at 3 p.m. If you're looking for a one-stop Christmas Shopping Boutique, this is the place. The talent of our parishioners is enough to make me want to throw myself under a moving bus. Instead I'll be auctioneer and have a ball doing it. Hope to see you all there.

P.S. I had to put in writing to Father Cusick that I wouldn't auction off the rectory or any of my children. He takes the fun out of everything.

Variety of crafts at POP show

Mrs. Janice Taylor, chairman of dealers for the annual Prince of Peace Church Craft Show, which will take place on Wednesday, Nov. 5 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the parish house, announced a list of dealers who will be participating at the show.

They are, Joyce Verneski, Mountaintop, baby quilts, stained glass and dolls; Janet Molesky and Jane Opalicki, Wyoming, crochet and quilting; Sherry Bonnice, Forty Fort, porcelain miniature dolls, fabric dolls and toys; "Wood and Whims," Factoryville, handcrafted wood items; Mary O'Malley Norton hand-painted lamps, enamelware, porcelain dolls, painting on hand-molded jewelry; Mary Kay Donnelly, Wilkes-Barre, fine sterling silver and 14K gold jewelry; Ellen Hawkins, Kingsley, Pa., pottery; Margaret Mould Cooney, Sweet Valley, macrame.

There will be a snack bar open during the hours of the show where homemade soups, sandwiches and desserts will be served. Admission is free.

British Club to meet Nov. 5

The monthly meeting of area British women will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. at the home of Agnes Sekel of Kingston. Co-hostess will be Barbara Andrejks of Wilkes-Barre.

An interesting program has been arranged and all

British born women are welcome. For further information call Norah Hughes 287-5497.
