

Himmler Theatre, opened by Wesley Himmler, was opened in Dallas in 1929 and later sold to the Deven family. The theatre was a landmark of amusement to almost two generations of early Back Mountain residents.

One of the early rhythm bands of the Dallas Elementary School. Person who contributed the photo was unable to identify those in the picture.

Employees of the former Himmler Theatre are shown in the lobby with the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Himmler. Left to right are projectionist; Mrs. Himmler; Himmler; Themla Cundiff, Dick Oliver, ticket seller and ticket taker.

One of the steamers at Harveys Lake which took picnickers from the inlet over to the Picnic Grounds.

FIRE COMPANY MUSICAL—Members of the Henry Laing Fire Company produced several musicals in the Good Old Days. Presented in the Dallas Borough High School auditorium, young and old alike, joined the cast and performed with enthusiasm.