GOH School honors students with academic and athletic awards

Gate of Heaven School held its 3rd Annual Academic and Athletic Awards Night on Tuesday, June 2nd in the school auditorium. All seventh and eighth grade students who had achieved a B-plus average or better during the academic year were commended and received certificates of honor. Eighth grade students who were honored with plaques for exceptional scholastic ability were: Lynn Austin, Highest Average for Girls; Paul Hartzel, Highest Average for Boys and Social Studies Award; Megan Flynn, award for Science and an award for Mathematics; Paul Segrave-Daly, award for Religion; and Adele Correale, award for English. Lynn Austin and John Spencer received the American Legion awards. Eighth grade students who participated in basketball and cheerleading received special jackets to acknowledge their extracurricular activities. The boys' varsity basketball team had an undefeated season and were the West Side Champions of their league. Each member of the championship team received a special trophy for this accomplishment. The team and their coaches, Walter Blejwas and Joe Boyle, presented the school with the championship trophy. The prize winning 7th and 8th grade Mathematics teams presented their trophies to the school and gave Sister Lucian, RSM, the 7th and 8th grade math teacher, a gift.

Father William Langan, assistant pastor at Gate of Heaven Church, addressed the students and their guests after the Awards ceremonies. The evening closed with light refreshments served to the parents, faculty and students present. The affair is sponsored by the Gate of Heaven Parent Teacher Guild. Ed Napieralski is the president of the Guild and Father William Cusick is the moderator.
