Auction will offer antiques

Approximately 50 committee members and guests swarmed around the auction grounds and the barn itself, sipping punch, eating cookies and admiring the array of antique items for the 35th Annual Back Mountain Memorial Library Auction. The antique preview party was held on Sunday afternoon, June 28. If the opinions overhead can be trusted there is something lovely for everyone regardless of preference in antiques. Chairman Ernie Ashbridge beamed and people asked questions and oh'd and ah'd. The items will go over the block during the four days of the auction to be held this week, Thursday through Sunday, July 9-12. The grounds will be bustling as people cover the area behind 69 Main St., Dallas, as always the weekend after the fourth. The hours are Thursday, 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Friday, 5 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to noon for the children's auction, 1 p.m. to midnight for adult or regular items, and Sunday, 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.
