Recipes can be left in the special box at the church or given to Mrs. Shirley Strohl and Candy Jones, who are heading the committee for the fundraiser.

Dallas firm big on energy management

Institutions, resorts and other large users of energy are beginning to realize great savings on their energy bills due to a relatively new concept called "energy management."

One local firm that has been having great success in promoting this concept in the east, and especially in the local area, is Pliscott Electric of Dallas.

Pliscott, which has been in the electrical business for the past 34 years, has been progressively involved in the new technological developments made in their field. Although for years they had concentrated their efforts on electrical contracting, a few years ago, Ernie Pliscott, the company's president started a branch of the business to install Energy Management Systems. Seeing the value of these systems and how greatly they reduced energy bills, Pliscott expanded their capabilities to include designing complete systems for installations.

Along with designing and installing these Energy Management Systems from Long Island and the Catskills in New York to Sioux City, Iowa and Nashville, Tenn., Pliscott Electric is very capable in the electrical contracting area of their business doing many large jobs including a million dollar electrical installation for the Methodist Nursing and Elderly Housing Facility, (Wesley Village) near Pittston.

One of the greatest challenges faced by Pliscott Electric in energy management was the design and installation of a complete system for Shawnee on the Delaware's Time Sharing Villas. With 200 units spread out over several miles all controlled from a central location, this was a large undertaking! Also because of Shawnee on the Delaware's distinctive decor, it was a special design problem to place this modern feature in the units and still retain and enhance the rich and ageless atmosphere that made the inn famous.

The owners of the Shawnee Inn realize the growing need to keep operating costs within reasonable limits and recognized the importance that the Scientific Atlanta System's Energy Management System installed by Pliscott would have. Ernie cited one very good example of the savings inherent in Energy Management Systems. Pliscott installed a system for ACTS (Adult Community Total Services, Inc.) headquartered in Spring House, Pa. The first system was installed in a 165 apartment complex in 1979. When the savings proved to be double the projections, they had three more systems installed a year later, one for 377 units, a second for a 328 unit complex and the third, for 300 units. The amazing performance from these systems has prompted them to install a fifth system in Boca Raton, Florida.

Ernie Pliscott pointed out that the one drawback in dealing with EMS's is that many would-be buyers are not convinced that their savings could be so high. Unfortunately this line of thinking keeps the wasteful over use of energy continuing. Yet, a professional survey can almost guarantee what percentage of savings can be realized. With the advantages available with today's technology, more facilities are cutting the high cost of energy consumption, and with progressive business like Pliscott Electric, our area may once again find itself on top of the economical ladder.
