Christmas crafts highlight area show

The churchwomen of Prince of Peace Church will hold their annual Craft Fair Wednesday, Nov. 3 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the parish house, Main Street, Dallas.

Dealers will present porcelain Christmas ornaments, leathercraft, silver smithing, needlework, dollhouse, basket weaving and pottery. The churchwomen will offer their own handmade crafts, cheeses, jellies, breads and candies, according to general chairman, Jane Thompson.

Committee members include Jean Carson, craftsmen; Loretta Reese and Janice Taylor, kitchen; Doris Maturi and Betty Stanley, churchwomen's own booth; Phyllis Rivers, Thelma Case and Thelma Ratcliffe, cheese; Armenia

Evans, waitresses; Thelma Ratcliffe, invitations; Joan Shuman, posters and Edna Yatsko, publicity.

The snack bar, open all day, will be serving homemade soups, sandwiches and desserts, especially pies. A stained glass lamp will be awarded as door prize and the public is cordially invited to attend. No reservations are required for lunch. There is no admission charge and no parking fee.

Pauline Roth is president of the churchwomen's organization and the Rev. John S. Prater is rector of the Prince of Peace Church.

Nesbitt Hospital Fair offers holiday idea

Handmade holiday gifts and decorations. Homemade candies, cookies, bread and jams. A large assortment of crocheted and knitted goods. These are just a sampling of the many items available at this year's Holiday Fair held by the Nesbitt Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The fair, under the sponsorship of the Shavertown branch, will be conducted Wednesday, Nov. 3, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Thursday, Nov. 4, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the hospital's Medical Arts Building.

Among this year's offerings are dolls, toys, quilts and pillows, dried and artificial flower arrangements, potted plants, Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations plus much more.

Mrs. Frederick Eck, Holiday Fair chairman, invites all area residents to attend this special community event. Proceeds of the fair will be used for extension and improvement of services in the hospital.

Abilities auction planned

Newcomer's Club of Wyoming Valley will hold its 1982 Abilities Auction at the Kingston Township Municipal Building. Included this year are some of the loveliest handcrafted items in the history of the auction. Quilts, floral arrangements, ceramics and ornaments are just a few examples of the beautiful items to be auctioned off, which would make perfect gifts or decorative additions to the home.

Proceeds will be used to fund the club's charitable activities throughout the year. The public is cordially invited and complimentary refreshments will be served. Doors will open at 7:30 for browsing and the auction will begin at approximately 7:45 p.m.

Among the recent club events was a covered dish dinner held at the Dallas United Methodist Church. The group went bowling afterwards at Chacko's West.

The Country Studio in Dallas has been the meeting place for the smocking class every Thursday evening.

A wine-tasting party will be held at Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cetei at their home at 8 p.m.

A Pot-Luck Luncheon will be held at the Dallas UM Church Wednesday, Nov. 3, from 12 p.m. until 2 p.m.

All new residents of the area are welcome to join the Newcomer's Club which is both a social and a service organization. Those interested in joining can contact Mrs. Brian White of Dallas.

Christmas Boutique scheduled

The second annual Christmas Boutique and Craft Show of the Lake-Lehman Band Sponsors Association will be held Saturday, Nov. 20, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Elementary School Building in Lehman. Lehman is located on Route 118 approximately six miles northwest of Dallas.

This show-sale will feature professional craftsmen and artists with a wide selection of fathercraft, woodcarving, wooden toys, furniture, quilts, jewelry, lapidary, straw and natural weavings, needlework, stained glass, doll houses and miniature furniture, porcelain, stoneware pottery, paintings, collectibles, holiday items and much more.

Chairman Edna Yatsko announced committee includes Reindeer Restaurant, Joann Bogdan and Doris Sando; Santa's Sweet Shoppe, Marlene Reed and Jane Stepanik; Craft Corner, Joyce Youren and publicity, Louise Schwartz. Reindeer Restaurant will serve homemade soups, sandwiches and desserts during the entire day of the show. Reservations are not required for lunch.

There will be no charge for admission or parking and the public is invited.
