Pop record released

Eric Rain and the Altar Boys will be the first local group to release a record in 1983 when their debut single hits the stores this week.

The new song "Sorry", the pop tune, was written by Ed Raineri (Eric Rain), Forty Fort, Nanticoke native, who has spent some time in New York honing his songwriting skills before returning home to release his own record.

Eric said that times are tough in the songwriting business, so that is why he decided to jump into his own material.

Among the local people on the disc are Larry Sechleer of Leer Brothers, Dave DiRisio of Craig Bevan's Tourists, and Sherry Hinkle, who contributes a fine vocal to the record's flip side "T.J."

The record is the brain child of Raineri, who has no plans to perform locally in support of the sing. The Altar Boys are really just a studio group, said Eddie.
