Here and There

with Joe Gula

Joe Koval, Bob Gaydos, Steve Adamchak Jr., and Nick Barto returned from Annapolis, Md. Tuesday evening where they attended the baseball game between the Yankees and

Mrs. Lois Koval of Owen Street recently returned home from Annapolis, Md. where she visited her son and daughter-in-law, Ray and the Navy baseball team. Bob Gaydos was in his glory as he had to be the No. 1 Yankee roofer. Steve Adamchak Jr. is also a top roofer, along with his dad Shanky. The men Veronica Koval and their daughter Beth Ann for a week. Beth Ann was a hospital patient and is coming along fine. Lois' husband Joe took her down and picked her up, had a high old time. They also visited Joe Koval's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. Ray Koval who are stationed at Annapolis.

but while there Joe and his son Ray saw a few basketball games with Navy and they also attended the NCAA finals in swimming. Joe said that that was something to see. The Kovals will have three birthday celebrants in April - daughter Barbara on April 6, mom Lois on April 8 and Pop Joe on April 27.

Head Coach Paul Pasek of the Swoyersville Jr. Football Championship "A" Team and his coaching staff consisting of Don Covert and Ted Gabel of the "A" Team, John Miller, Bruce Lykon and Tony Strish of the "B" Team and Allan Hornick, Ted Wozniak and Herry Turner of the "C" Team attended the recent Coaches' clinic for junior football coaches at the convention hall in Pittston.

The clinic was sponsored by the Greater Pittston Jr. Football League with Joe Amato of West Wyoming as president and chairman of the affair, who did a great job.

Main speakers at the clinic were Bob Barberi, coach of Pittston Area High who spoke on conditioning and practice. Dr. Paul Chromey spoke on sports medicine, sports injuries, and prevention and treatment for these injuries.

Coach Mickey Gorham of Meyers High spoke on offensive football and Coach Charles Fick of GAR spoke on defensive football. PIAA official Ace Brogna spoke on rules and regulations for the young athletes. He said that the clinic provided many years of advice and knowledge by highly qualified coaches and sports medicine, by Dr. Chromey, who is the most sought after sports doctor in the eastern part of the United States. Pasek also said, and the rest of the coaches echoed his praise, that this knowledge will help the coaches and athletes and they could approach the game with the professional knowledge that they got from this fine clinic.

Pasek said that over 120 junior football coaches from all over the eastern part of the state attended the clinic.

Swoyersville Lions Club will hold their annual fund-raiser, a chicken dinner and dance, on Saturday, April 30 at the Scott Street Hose House in Swoyersville. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Henry Charles Orchestra. Members will sell tickets door to door.

Projects the Club sponsors yearly are Little League, Mini Football, Eye Research, Christmas presents for the blind, seeing eye dogs, glasses for needy residents, eye donor program, Beacon Lodge Summer Camp, Sergeat Seamore Program for third and fourth graders, contributions for families experiencing misfortune.

Sacred Heart Society of St. Mary's Church of Shoemaker Street, Swoyersville, will make and sell Paska (Easter) bread on Tuesday, March 29 by order only. Sale will start at 12 noon. To place your orders, call Helen Yurevitch at 287-4488. Deadline for orders is March 24.

Josephine Pittcavage is president of the Society, Father Edward Sokolowski is moderator and pastor.

Holy Name School of Forty Fort will hold its third annual Ethnic Food Festival for students today, March 23. Mrs. Eleanor Doland is chairman. With full cooperation from the parents, the children will sample food from all parts of the world.

Charley "Chi" Zannetti of the Swoyersville Engineering Department still says that Walt Michaels will be back in pro football as a coach next year. We think you are right, Chi.

Swoyersville was deeply saddened over the death of Mrs. Catherine Lacina of Hughes Street. She and her late husband raised a fine family. She will be missed by everyone.

Tony "Buck" Urban of Perrin St., Swoyersville is a medical patient at the Nesbitt Hospital. His family and many friends wish him a speedy recovery and hope to see him up and around soon. Buck has been a talented accordion player for many years. He is also a top dart shooter. Get well soon, Buck-oo.

The big attraction will be at the Holy Trinity School Auditorium Hughes St., Swoyersville this evening as the Athletic Booster Club of Holy Trinity will host the "WNEP Instabuckets" at 7:30. Family and friends are welcome to attend. Joseph Lipinski is president of the club and Father Joseph Ziobro is moderator. Msgr. Michael C. Polcha is pastor.

Coach John Dorish's Kings baseball nine will begin their season this afternoon at Roosevelt Field as his Monarchs will host Kutztown in a doubleheader. There are many local men playing for John and he is smiling. John hopes to have a good season. First game begins at 1:30 p.m.

Polka fans were surprised but happy to see Walt Michaels on the Polka Telethon this past Sunday on Channel 2 from the Gennetti Motel in Hazleton. Walt was a guest of Jimmy Stuhr, the well-known "Polka King." Walt even took care of the phones for a time, getting in donations for the Cancer Fund.

The No. 2 Hose Company of Slocum St., Swoyersville will hold a spaghetti dinner-dance on Saturday, May 14 at their hall on Slocum St. More information will come on this.

Musical Performance of 'Kiss Me Kate' Comes to WWV

William Shakespeare, Sam and Bella Spewack and Cole Porter are the authors of "Kiss Me, Kate," the next scheduled production at Wyoming Valley West High School to be held on April 6-9 in the auditorium, Plymouth.

The story of the play concerns the efforts of Fred Graham, played by sophomore Erik Santos, and Lilli Vanessi, played by senior Robyn Paisley, to rekindle the flame of their onetime love while performing The Taming of the Shrew. The story shifts from present day Baltimore where the troupe is playing The Taming of the Shrew to Padua where Petruchio seeks to conquer Kate. Lilli and Kate are both conquered in the final scene.

Director of this year's musical is Mrs. Claire Backer; choral director is Frank Edwards, orchestra leader is Robert Henderson, and Principal of Wyoming Valley West High School is James F. Ferris.

PLAYING THE LEAD: Pictured are the leads in Kiss Me Kate, Erik Santos and Robyn Paisley.
