North Coming to Irem Country Club

BY LEE L. RICHARDS

CLIBOARD NOTES: United Penn Bank's Bob Mason informed me recently that touring pro Andy North is slated to put on an exhibition at Irem Temple Country Club on Monday, May 23. Mason has been coordinating North's day here and says he'll put on a brief clinic in the morning. Mason also promised he wasn't going to offer North any advice.

Valley West Coach Jim Fennell is looking forward to coaching in the annual UNICO grid tilt next month. He mentioned last week some of his offensive scheme and he's got some big plans for several of the Dallas players. Lake-Lehman's Mark Kirk will be coaching in his initial East-West clash.

WNEP's Joe Zone got a bit carried away last week when he reported Penn State's spring game would be carried on cable TV which would be a first for college football. Sorry, Joe, but ESPN telecast both Clemson and Notre Dame's spring clashes last year. In Joe's eyes anything PSU does is a first?????

Tom Coughlin, Boston College assistant grid coach, told me the Eagles had a very productive spring offensively and particularly, QB Doug Flutie. The amazin' little field general didn't throw an interception on film during the 30 days of drills. He's a winner in my book.

Several Pitt fans were puzzled that Coach Foge Fazio didn't appoint Andy Urbanic Offensive Coordinator. I've still gotta believe Urbanic is head coaching material for some big time program. I seem to have lost count, but how many titles do the Philly "Sickers" owe their fans? Not that I really care.

Even if the New York Islanders fall short in their bid for a fourth Stanley Cup, I believe there isn't a better collection of athletes in professional sports today. They know how and what it takes to win. Fact is, I'd go as far as to compare them to the Great Green Bay Packers of Coach Vince Lombardi and I don't do that very often.

Did you know the Sporting News predicted before the NFL draft Denver would wind up with QB John Elway? The Colts didn't get a whole lot for him in the trade which I had a hunch was going to transpire, but I'm still not overly sold on his worth.

Meyers' Todd Moules, only a sophomore, could become a regular for Penn State on defense by mid-season as a down lineman.

Dave Davis tells me the Tri-Athlon was so successful last year that plans are already underway for this year to have an even bigger and more competitive field. In this event the participants swim Harveys Lake, run several miles and ride a bike, too. It's no piece of cake!

Dallas baseball team continues to belt the ball around but can't seem to hold the other team in check in the runs department. The weather has played havoc with any team continuity.

Pitt's annual visit to the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton area is slated for May 20. As usual it will be at the Scranton Treadway. Many of the local scribes believe the Golden Panthers cater too much to the Scranton area media by having the press confab up there on a regular basis. Many contend it's too far to travel (29 miles one way). Despite efforts by local members of the organization, the show will go on in Scranton!

Another PA State mat champ is headed to the Eastern Wrestling League. West Virginia Coach Craig Turnbull recently inked 167-pound champ Craig Costello for the blue and gold. He wrestled for former Meyers star, Tom Carr, at Erie Tech. From early indications this year's EWL recruiting crop could rank with its finest.

Played Wyoming Valley Country Club with Bob and Rob Rundle and I couldn't help but being impressed with the on course improvements. Deeper traps and more consistent greens, along with some added water. It very well could be the best layout around this area in another couple of years.

Could the reason the Phillies are performing so well is that most of the vets on the team feel this could be their last legitimate crack at World Series ring? New York News recently claimed the Phils were too old and lack the overall pitching to make solid run. If they don't fade in the heat of summer, look out!

Runners Take Hawks

Lake-Lehman's boys and girls track teams won their meets against Hano-ver last week by 96-53 and 77-62 respectively. It ran the boys record to 2-3 and the girls to 1-4.

In the boys meet, the Lehman team of Bernick, Knorr, Walczak and Tanizek took the 3200m relay; Kukosky of Lehman won the 110m hurdles with C. VanGorder placing second.

Jones won the triple jump with 34-5 and Barbacci came in second.

In the girls meet, Lehman's Judge, Narealski, Austin and Sorber won the 3200m relay. Mills took the 100m hurdles, Kuschke the triple jump, Janusz, Wills, Kuschke and Mills, the 400m relay. Sorber the 800m run and Mills, the 200m dash.

This weekend 46 girls from the local lanes will travel to Pittsburgh to compete in the Pennsylvania Women Bowlers state tournament.

An Outstanding Athlete

It's not unusual that Judy Krispin is an outstanding athlete for she is the youngest in a family of seven, all but one involved in high school sports. Three of her older brothers were members of the Dallas High football team.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Krispin of Carverton, the attractive red head has five older brothers and an older sister. Judy has speed and endurance and runs four events for the Dallas girls track team.

"This is unusual," said Dallas Coach Robyn Jones. "It is seldom that one girl participates in that many running events in each meet. She is a terrific athlete and gives her all in any sport in which she is involved. In addition, she is a very humble person and does her utmost to aid other team members."

Judy was one of the five track members who competed in the Penn Relays last week. The Dallas relay team ran against 12 teams representing all areas of the country. The girls ran their fastest time ever in the 400 and 1600 relays and came in third in their heat.

A senior, this year, Judy went out for track in her sophomore year under Coach Jones. That year she ran as a member of the mile relay, ran the 110 hurdles and the 300IM hurdles and did the triple jump. In her junior year Judy ran the 400 relay in state competition. She was one of the five district medalists for Dallas. This year she runs the two relays, the 110 hurdles and the 300 IM hurdles.

Judy also took part in track when in junior high school beginning in seventh grade as a sprinter, running the hurdles and relays. Track is her favorite sport.

She also excelled in basketball which she started playing in eighth grade. She started as a forward and has played that position throughout her high school career. Judy played varsity since a freshman and lettered as a sophomore, junior and senior. She plays an all-round game but her favorite is defense and she was leading rebounder for the Dallas girls. This year, Judy was named to the Wyoming Valley's all-star team.

Not satisfied with taking part in the high school athletic programs, in her leisure time Judy goes horseback riding, swimming, bike riding and running.

Following graduation she plans to work for the summer, then go to Houston, Texas, to visit her brother and look into attending college, probably to pursue a degree as a medical assistant. "Maybe," she adds, "I'm not quite sure; that's in the future." Presently, Judy is looking forward to the Dallas relay team qualifying again this season for the state competition.
