Craft Shop Staff Can Cook, Too!

By JOAN KINGSBURY
Post Correspondent

When school is out for the summer, one question hangs heavy on the minds of kids everywhere - "What is there to do?" Mary Lou Swingle and her daughters, Cathy Anne Berkey and Michele Hogans, can provide both you and your child with a variety of craft projects. This mother-daughter team own and operate Grannie Annie's Crafts located on North Main Street in Shavertown.

During July, Grannie Annie's will hold Classes for Kids. The classes will be held July 6, 13 and 20 with two sessions a day. The morning session runs from 10 a.m. to noon while the afternoon class is from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Members of the classes will paint woodalls, toaster toms and frisbies. Each class will cost $5, which includes all supplies. Limited registration is being

Around The Corner

Congratulations to Joan Felty of Dallas who was presented the "Advocate of the Year" award at the 30th anniversary dinner of the Association for Retarded Citizens. The award was given for the first time by the organization for dedication and efforts in advocating for the appropriate education for each school-age child to meet his or her special needs.

A warm welcome to Paul and Ronne Kurlan- cheek who will open their second furniture show- room on Memorial High- way on June 23. The Kur- lancheeks, a brother- sister-team, will move into the former Sutliff Furni- ture showroom. Dick Hunt- singer is store manager.

Best wishes to the fol- lowing couples who were recently married: Mr. and Mrs. James F. McAvoy and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Miller.

Mrs. McAvoy is the former Lynn Marie Sher- man of Laffin. Following a wedding trip to Williams- burg, Virginia and Flori- da, the McAvoy's are residing in Kingston.

Mrs. Miller, Dr. Debra Ann Thompson, and her husband are residing in accepted by calling Gran- nie Annie's at 675-1311.

Mary Lou, Cathy Anne and Michele carry a full line of supplies in their shop including yarn, macrame cord, beads, rings, Susan Bates floss and fabric for counted cross stitch. They carry all necessary needlework sup- plies; kits for crewel, cross stitch, counted cross stitch, needlepoint as well as plastic canvas, quilting supplies, sticky frames, pom poms, eyes and all general craft supplies. Instruction books for crafts and needlework are also available.

Some new additions to the shop are the boutique buttons in various shapes, baseball bats, roller skates, frogs, turtles, flow- ers, hammer, pliers.

Since all three women have always enjoyed work- ing with crafts, it was just natural for them to go into business when the oppor- tunity arose. Once fall approaches, they will be even busier getting ready for seminars for Girl Scout Leaders and Den Mothers. At these seminars various projects will be presented, with leaders having the opportunity to make arrangements to purchase supplies for the project that appeals to them, then pick the needed items up when the project time arrives.

Grannie Annie's gives a discount to all non-profit organizations. If anyone desires to learn how to do a specific craft or kind of needlework, just call as either Mary Lou, Cathy Anne or Michele will be able to give instructions. Mary Lou says that the three of them can teach just about any craft or type of needlework one would like to learn.

When not operating the shop, Mary Lou serves as second vice-president of the board of Penn's Woods Girl Scouts, and as church school superintendent of the Shavertown United Methodist Church. She is also a member of the administrative board and council of ministries of the church. She and her husband, Elwood, have five children, John, Cathy Ann, Tom, Michele and Ken. Elwood and Mary Lou live in Shavertown.

Cathy Anne does some craft designing as well as craft work. She is employed at Daring's Market and also sews all her own clothes. She and her husband, Robert, live in Shavertown.

Michele teaches aerobic dancing and jazzercise for Luzerne County Commu- nity College. She and her husband, Richard, live in Shavertown with their daughter, Kim, who is 4 years old.

Obviously, three women who operate a business from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and then participate in community endeavors and hold other jobs besides are very busy. This, however, does not change the fact that all three love to cook. For our readers who would like to whip up delicious meals in record time, the staff of Grannie Annie's has provided three great meals - Mary Lou's Roast Beef Dinner, Taco Salad, a favorite at Cathy Anne's house; and Michele Hogans' Grilled London Broil.

GRILLED LONDON BROIL

Michele Hogans
1 London broil
1 c. teriyaki sauce meat marinade
garlic powder

pepper
Rub London broil with pepper. Sprinkle with garlic powder. Place in a container with a tight fit- ting lid. Pour in marinade. Let stand 8 hours or over- night. Heat grill. Grill on both sides about 15 min- utes per side. Slice across grain.

TACO SALAD

Cathy Berkey
1 lb. lean ground beef
1 pkg. Taco seasoning mix
shredded lettuce
chopped tomatoes
shredded cheddar cheese
toasted corn flavored chips
Prepare meat and taco sauce as directed on pack- age. Layer lettuce, tomato and cheese in individual large salad bowls. Top with meat sauce. Serve with chips. For very mild sauce brown ground beef, drain, stir in catsup and a very small amount of water until saucy.

ROAST BEEF DINNER

Mary Lou Swingle
3/4 lb. beef roast (rump, eye, sirloin tip)
1 pkg. onion soup mix
1/2 c. water
6 potatoes
1 lb. carrots (baby ones if available or use frozen)
1/2 lb. mushrooms
1 lb. green beans or 1 pkg. frozen
Use slow-cooker. Start on high (for about 2 hours) then change to medium. If there is no one home to change the setting leave it set on medium all day. Don't put the mushrooms in until the last half hour of cooking time.

Medicine Book Available

A consumer's guide pub- lication is available to the public from the Pennsylv- ania Pharmaceutical Association, the statewide professional association of Pharmacists.

Entitled, "About Your Medicines", this paper- back book describes the uses, precautions, side effects, interactions and brand and generic names for the most frequently prescribed medicines.

This 400-page reference covers current medical and pharmaceutical advancements, in practi- cal lay language, on over 200 commonly used medi- cines.

"About Your Medicines" is being sold by the Penn- sylvania Pharmaceutical Association, the non-profit

Association of pharma- cists, as a service to con- sumers in Pennsylvania.

The book is priced at $6.25 which includes ship- ping, postage and Pennsylv- ania Sales Tax. Orders for this book can be placed with the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association, 508 North Third Street, Harrisburg, Penn- sylvania 17101.
