Mrs. Patricia Johnson of Bodle Road has given up plans to have the Franklin Township polling placed moved from the Orange United Methodist Church annex to the Franklin Township fire hall. Back in May after the Primary Election, she secured forms at the Luzerne County Election Bureau in the Courthouse Annex to initiate the change. The attempted move caused a furor among members of the United Methodist Women's Group of the Orange Church, who use the election day dinners - noon and evening - as fundraisers. Mrs. Johnson subsequently denied that she had instituted the move, although attaches at the Luzerne County Election Bureau confirmed a Post reporter's inquiry about the proposed move. Incidentally, the Franklin Township Taxpayers' Association has gone on record to oppose any move in changing the polling place from the Orange UM Church Hall where it has been for decades. Mrs. Johnson, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Sandra Race, Franklin Twp. secretary, was defeated for the Republican nomination for a six-year term as township auditor by Sam Perry of Sutton Creek Road, Orange, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Perry, Sr.

'La Chain Gang' Rides Just for Fun

By JANE C. BOLGER
Post Correspondent

If you get up real early on a nice Saturday morning and head out along a country road, you may have the pleasure of meeting "La Chain Gang".

You'll see seven ladies traveling along by bicycle wearing white Bell helmets with red trim and sweat-shirts identifying the name of their club.

The gals won't be going too fast - maybe a maximum speed of 10 miles per hour - but they'll be having a great time. Enjoying life is the whole idea of "La Chain Gang", according to Carol King who founded the club last year with her Dallas neighbor, Jean Gale, when they found they couldn't keep up with the pace of more serious male riders.

"I'd feel so guilty," said Mrs. King, describing how her husband, Hugh, who owns "The Recyclery" a bicycle shop in Dallas, would slow down and wait for her. "La Chain Gang" operates at a much lower key with the ladies always willing to wait for learners, stopping for refreshments at someone's house, visiting a country store, watching pigs at a farm, or even bringing home apples from orchards in their bike bags.

Starting at 7:30 in the morning from their meeting place at a restaurant on Rt. 309, the group goes up and down hill all over the Back Mountain. Some of the usual routes they take are to Frances Slocum Park, to Orange or Centermoreland, out to Lehman, or around Harveys Lake.

Along the way, they've had some unusual experiences like the time they found a dog trapped in a culvert out on Lower Demunds Road then went knocking on doors of neighboring farm houses waking people up. Eventually they bicycled to a telephone and called the SPCA then returned to check on the dog.

Not all their animal stories are quite as pleasant, though since bicycles seem to attract dogs - a fact Mrs. King became painfully aware of when she panicked while being chased. After falling down, however, she promptly had her faced licked by the animal who turned out to be friendly once she was off her bicycle.

Members of the club in addition to Mrs. King, who is a first grade teacher at Wyoming Seminary Day School, are Mrs. Gale, a realtor, and her daughter, Debbie, a dental assistant; Barbara Vivian, another realtor; Sally Drummer, a Wilkes-Barre teacher; Sharon Bayer, a legal secretary; and Natalie Tuppert, a dental assistant. Another member, Nancy Biscontini, recently moved to Wyoming - to date there are no plans to ride out to visit her.

New members are welcome at any time and anyone who is interested may call Jean Gale at 675-2753 for more information on how to enjoy their Saturday mornings.

One safety tip gleaned from "La Chain Gang" is to always wear a helmet. Another tip is to be sure the bike fits you. If you borrow your son or daughter's bikes, have the seat adjusted to fit you comfortably.

The ladies feel you will probably need a 10-speed bike with lower gears in order to easily conquer the hills in this area. Perhaps the most important message from "La Chain Gang" could be "Enjoy it, it's fun."

When someone asks us
What is a customer?

we have the answer ...

- ★ A customer is the most important person in any business.
- ★ A customer is not dependent on us—we are dependent on him.
- ★ A customer is not an interruption of our work. He is the purpose of it.
- ★ A customer does us a favor when he calls. We are not doing him a favor by serving him.
- ★ A customer is a part of our business, not an outsider.
- ★ A customer is not a cold statistic. He is a flesh and blood human being with feelings and emotions like our own.
- ★ A customer is not someone to argue or match wits with.
- ★ A customer is deserving of the most courteous and attentive treatment we can give him.
- ★ A customer is the lifeblood of this and every other business.
