KATHRYN HALL

Society plans auction

Many fine antique items will be auctioned at the Seventh Annual Auction sponsored by the members and friends of the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society.

The auction will feature new and used items donated by members and local business people. The event will be held on Saturday, Aug. 27 at the Sweetland Homestead Grounds in Wyoming. Wayne Weaver will be the auctioneer.

A Marketplace, Book Fair and baked goods booth will also be featured.

Refreshments will be made available by the Irem Stewards' Snack Wagon and the Hillside Ice Cream van. Anyone who wishes to donate anything to the auction may contact the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society at 823-6244.

Co-chairmen for the event are Kathryn Hall and Mary Frantz.

CYNTHIA SERNIK

Serniak named to college post

Cynthia Serniak, Plains, has been appointed Junior Accountant in the Comptroller's Office at College Misericordia. It was announced by Joseph R. Fink, President.

Mrs. Serniak is a cum laude graduate of College Misericordia with a bachelor's degree in business administration. She worked in the Comptroller's Office during her senior year as part of a work-study program.

In her new job, Ms. Serniak processes College Misericordia's payroll and works with National Direct Student Loans.

She is the daughter of Andrew Serniak of Plains.

PG&W sets program

Pennsylvania Gas and Water Company is offering a fund-raising program to all non-profit church, civic and fraternal organizations in the Greater Wyoming Valley area. The program will begin this fall. According to Company Spokesman, Richard Santee, PG&W will furnish all materials and equipment necessary for non-profit organizations to bake 120 dozen cookies. The company has established a flat sale price on the cookies of $1.00 per dozen.

"With all materials being donated including the use of our gas kitchens in our Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Williamsport showrooms, each organization stands to make $120 for their investment in the time it will take them to make the cookies", Santee said. He added that organizations will be able to make Welsh cookies and coconut chews; two favorites from a similar PG&W program aimed at helping non-profit organizations more than a decade ago.

Cookie bake sales dates are being booked now for clubs and organizations. In the Scranton area, customer information representative Frances Wynne, is accepting inquiries. Ruth Marmo, Wynne's counterpart in the Wilkes-Barre area will schedule club bookings for organizations from throughout the greater Luzerne County area. In Lyscoming County, marketing representative Dave Columbine is coordinating club bookings for the cookie bake sales.

Santee added that the popularity of the free fund-raising program is such that organizations wishing to participate must be scheduled on a first-come first-served basis.
