HARRY ALBACKER

Disney magician performs at Fall Fair

Watch out, Houdini...Harry Albacker is back in town!

For those of you yet to see World Famous Magician Harry Albacker's mystical magic show, here's your chance.

Albacker, who was born just three minutes after the death of Houdini (on Halloween), will be appearing Sept. 7 through 11 at the Luzerne County Fall Fair, Route 118, Lehman. He and his "Educated Animals" will be performing tricks from his repertoire of over 3,000 workable stunts and 10,000 secrets.

During his 41 years of professional performing, Albacker has accumulated quite a list of credits. He has appeared regularly as "Tricky Harry" on "Captain Kangaroo" and as "The Magic Genie" on Paul Shannon's "Adventure Time." Magician Albacker also performed seven times in one year at the White House for the Kennedy children. At present, he is the official magician for Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla. and is performing in "The Magical World of Walt Disney" which he authored.

Aside from his professional performances, Harry makes regular visits to cheer accident victims and VA hospital patients with his "Magic Mania." Making people happy is what has kept Harry roaming the world dazzling crowds since the age of 11.

Magician Albacker performs 800 shows per year and is presently one of only six full-time professional magicians in the United States.
