Residents fight landfill

A citizens' group from Kingston Twp. met Sept. 15 to fight a landfill proposed for the Bunker Hill section of the township.

The Concerned Citizens of Kingston Twp., a newly formed group consisting of nine members, is seeking legal advice on how to fight the landfill.

Last week, the township planning commission recommended a zoning change to operate the landfill. Concerned Citizens was formed after that meeting.

County seeks trial money

Eight Pennsylvania counties owe $8,700 to Luzerne County for money spent on trials for inmates of the State Correctional Institution in Dallas.

The money is owed to Luzerne County for trials of prisoners charged with crimes while at the prison. According to state law, such trials must be paid for by the county which originally sentenced the inmates.

Most of the prisoners were charged with drug-related offenses, beating up other inmates and attempted escape from the prison.

Clerk of Courts Eugene Hudak sent bills to 17 different counties last summer but only nine paid their bills. Luzerne County may sue the eight counties who did not pay their bills to recover the $8,700.

Man charged with robbery

Kevin Michael Harvey, 23, of Jeffrey, New Hampshire, pleaded guilty Sept. 7 to charges of armed robbery and theft stemming from the abduction of a Harveys Lake man.

Entering the pleas before Common Pleas Judge Bernard Podcasey, Harvey was ordered returned to Luzerne County Prison where he has been held on $25,000 bail. He faces a minimum of 20 years in prison on the robbery charge.

Harvey was hitchhiking in the Tunkhannock area on April 4 and was offered a ride by Herbert Henry Husband of Harveys Lake. After asking Husband to drive him to Allentown, Harvey pulled a knife on the Harveys Lake man on Route 309 in Wilkes-Barre Township, and ordered Husband to drive south on Interstate 81. At the Nuangola exit, Harvey ordered Husband out of the car and continued alone in Husband's car.

Lehman trims bus routes

School days have gotten longer for children in the Lake-Lehman School District as a result of a school board decision to trim transportation costs.

Last June the school board voted to sell its fleet of eight buses for $103,000 and hire outside contractors to transport pupils. The board also voted to eliminate four after-school bus runs which transported approximately 125 students who attend West Side Vocational-Technical School in Pringle, or Bishop O'Reilly High School in Kingston.

The elimination of the four after-school bus runs will save the school district approximately $16,000 this year, however, students must now remain at their respective schools an additional 20 minutes each day.

Goodwin resigns post

Lehman Township Police Chief William Goodwin plans to resign from that position to devote more time to his family.

Goodwin, 56, of Outlet Rd., Lehman, submitted his resignation to the township supervisors Sept. 12. He plans to end police work on Jan. 1, 1984.

Goodwin is a nine-year veteran of the Lehman police force and is paid $6,000 for his part-time police chief position. He is also employed as a security guard at Owens-Illinois in Pittston Township.

Boat drivers are cited

James M. Walsh, 17, of 18 Westminster Drive, Dallas, and Michelle Kravitsky, 23, RD 3, Box 177, Dallas, were issued citations on Sept. 12 in connection with an Aug. 16 boating collision on Harveys Lake.

The citations, filed with District Justice Leonard Harvey of Dallas, indicate the accident occurred when a motorboat driven by Walsh struck a drifting boat occupied by Miss Kravitsky and Arlene Kozich, 30, of 64 Gerald St., Dallas.

Walsh is charged with operating the boat, which is owned by Alex Covaeski, 1 Hillside Ave., Harveys Lake, in a manner that could have caused bodily injury or death while Miss Kravitsky is charged with failing to use required navigation lights.

Both drivers face $100 fines, however, a hearing will be scheduled if either Walsh or Kravitsky wants to contest the citations.

Employees dismissed

The Dallas School board voted to dismiss two of the district's employees at its meeting held Sept. 12.

The board voted to notify John J. Kundrat, central supply clerk and John Gabriel, supervisor of buildings, it plans to dismiss them from their jobs. On Aug. 8, the board voted to terminate Gabriel for alleged incompetency. Gabriel, however, filed suit in Luzerne County and returned to his job pending the outcome of a hearing which began Sept. 15.

No action will be taken on the Kundrat case until the supply clerk is given the opportunity to request a hearing and appear before the board to defend himself. The board charged Kundrat with "negligence of duty" and "acts of improper conduct."

The board voted 6-2 in the Kundrat resolution with Albert Pisaneschi and Joseph O'Donnell voting against the action. The board vote was 8-0 on the Gabriel resolution. Patricia Gregory did not attend the Sept. 12 meeting.

Supervisors warn bikers

The Lake Township board of supervisors voted, at its Sept. 12 meeting, to place a newspaper advertising warning that police will enforce laws dealing with motorcycles and dirt bikes.

The ad will warn township residents that police will enforce penalties against drivers riding unlicensed, unregistered or improperly lighted bikes.

Township gets grant

Jackson Township will receive a $50,000 grant from Community Development for the purpose of constructing a recreational area in the township, it was announced at the supervisors' meeting held Sept. 12.

The land must be a minimum of at least two acres and under the conditions of the grant, the township will receive $10,000 for land purchase and $40,000 for construction.

Supervisors want change

Kingston Township supervisors authorized Township solicitor Ben Jones to redefine the meaning of mobile homes so that the township's zoning ordinance which defines mobile homes and regulates their placement can be redefined.

Mark Kunkle, township manager, said one section of the ordinance requires all mobile homes must be located in a mobile home park, while another section says mobile homes on permanent foundations are classified as permanent residences rather than mobile homes.

Kunkle said the two sections of the law could cause confusion about what is a mobile home.
