Nation rallies around 'The Chemical People'

"The Chemical People," a nationwide program about the effort to fight drug and alcohol abuse among our youth, will be aired Nov. 2 and 9, on WVIA-TV.

All of the school districts in our area have been asked to schedule town meetings in conjunction with "The Chemical People" on these two nights. Town meetings have been scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at the Dallas Junior High School.

The purpose of The Chemical People is to have members of the community join together at these town meetings and watch this televised program. The Nov. 2 program will be followed by a panel discussion featuring local people who have some particular insight into this problem on a local level.

Members of the Dallas panel include Thomas DiMatteo, Ed.D., therapist, certified rehabilitation counselor, and executive director of the Luzerne-Wyoming County Drug and Alcohol Program; Dr. Charles Krivenko, associated with Dallas Family Practice, has practiced medicine for 14 years and is certified by the American Board of Family Practice; Dr. Jeffrey Sternlieb, a licensed clinical psychologist who works with children, adolescents and families; Rev. Lynn Rothrock, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Shavertown; Sgt. Raymond Hayes, patrol supervisor of Troop P, Pennsylvania State Police, Wyoming Barracks; Mary Waard, social worker, home and school visitor, Dallas School System; Larry Schuler, chairman of health and physical education department, Key Club advisor and sophomore class advisor for Dallas High School; Robyn Jones, health teacher in the Dallas Junior High School.

After the Nov. 9 telecast, an open discussion will be held regarding what can be done in the Back Mountain to prevent and combat youth involvement with drugs and alcohol.

WVIA-TV has also scheduled a program on Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. entitled "Something's Happening Here" which is a hard look at how alcohol and drug abuse is threatening the lives of young people in Northeastern Pennsylvania. A fourth program, "A Time for Action" has been scheduled to be aired on Nov. 16 at 8 p.m. This will be a live, call-in show with a panel of experts designed to strengthen local task force efforts and to report to the community on the launching of this unprecedented regional endeavor.

Drug and alcohol abuse among our youth is a nationwide problem, regardless of how affluent or poor, or how large or small the community. The Chemical People project is to get more people aware of this epidemic.

Request tabled

The Jackson Township Planning Commission was informed at its Oct. 17 meeting that it cannot take official action on a rezoning request from landowner Donald Jones.

Jones wants a piece of property he owns on Chase Road rezoned to reduce the amount of land required for each house, so he can build a second house on the property.

Jones has been advised to prepare a request for the zoning board which rules on such requests. The planning commission only makes recommendations to the zoning board.

Vandalism cases being investigated

Dallas Township Police are investigating three cases of vandalism that occurred last week. In the first incident, three tires were slashed on a 1983 Dodge car owned by Ronald Millius while the vehicle was parked in the driveway of his home on Reservoir Road.

Vandalism was also reported at the boys locker room at the Dallas Senior High School. According to police reports, porcelain and plumbing were damaged when the sink was kicked.

A Dallas School District bus was broken into while the vehicle was parked in the bus lot on Hildebrandt Road. An 8 track AM-FM radio, valued at $150, which was the personal property of the school bus driver Clifford Chapin of Dallas was stolen from the vehicle.

SCID inmates are charged with rape

Two inmates at the State Correctional Institute at Chase have been charged with raping another prisoner in the hospital laboratory.

William Forrest, 34, and Nathaniel Owens, 30, both of Philadelphia, were arrested by Trooper Donald Taylor at the Wyoming State Police Barracks for allegedly raping John Cowell.

The specific charges against Forrest and Owens are rape, criminal conspiracy, involuntary sexual intercourse, indecent assault and conspiracy.

A preliminary hearing on the charges will be held Nov. 2 by District Magistrate Leonard Harvey. Due to the large number of inmates listed as witnesses in the case, the hearing will be conducted at the prison rather than in Magistrate Harvey's Dallas office.

Ozark hearing is waived to county court

A hearing for Michael Ozark, 24, who is charged with Driving Under the Influence was waived to Luzerne County Criminal Court last week.

Ozark, who resides at 331 Lydyd

Road, Dupont, was arrested following an accident at the intersection of Route 309 and Carverton Road.

Arresting officer was Kingston Township Patrolman Donald Gavigan, who administered a field test for sobriety and a breathalyzer test.

Ozark was defended on the Drunken Driving charge by Atty. Michael Cefalo. The case was heard by Magistrate Earl Gregory.

Dallas Kiwanis Club to begin year's activities

The Kiwanis Club of Dallas will inaugurate its social activities for the new year this Friday, Oct. 28, with a Harvest Moon Ball at Irem Temple Country Club. The affair is open to members, guests, and the general public with dancing from 9 to 1, preceded by a cocktail hour and followed by a continental break-

President Link Lindquist has appointed the following members and their wives as committee for the dance: Chairman John T. Luke; members Paul Selingo and Reese Pelton. Decor for the evening will follow the theme, this fall event, once a major Back Mountain event, is being revived after several years lapse.

Kiwanis of Dallas has a full weekend of events, commencing with The Harvest Moon Ball. Club officers will attend a day long training session on Saturday, Oct. 29, at Carlisle, Pa.

Keep YOUR Money Working For YOU

RE-ELECT MIKE MORREALE — He has invested your tax dollars wisely, earning over $4 million in interest during the past 4 years.

It's Your Money — And Your Choice

Dear Friends,
In my first four years as Luzerne County Treasurer, I have worked for your best INTEREST by eliminating expenses and increasing earnings. By investing wisely, I have kept YOUR tax dollars WORKING For you — earning over $4 million in interest over the past four years. I have also cut my office expenses by more than $100,000.
I am most proud of the services that the Treasurer's office has been able to provide for Luzerne County citizens, especially the new system of dog licenses sold throughout the county — and the new lost and found system for dogs.
I have kept my staff and your money working for you. Please vote for me and the entire Democratic ticket on Election Day.

Mike Morreale Thanks, Mike Morreale
