SHOP TALK

MARK II RESTAURANT on Route 309, Dallas is currently undergoing renovations to bring its popular outdoor ice cream stand indoors where tables will also be provided.

THE NEW STORE IN TOWN is The Stone Wall Mini-Market at 217 Carverton Road, Trucksville on the site of the former Zoellers Market. The neighborhood convenience store, which handles milk, groceries and luncheon meat is owned by John Hadlaski, Cedar Village, Wilkes-Barre.

HAVING A GRAND OPENING in the Hickory Corners Mini Mall off Carverton Road, Trucksville is a new shop called "Antiques and Something Special." Antique furniture and glassware as well as good reproductions will be featured in the store owned by Janet Noldy of Laceyville.

THE OLD RUMOR of 'A Department Store Is Moving To the Back Mountain' is being circulated again but no one seems to know who, where or when. Actually it is probably wishful thinking by all those tired Christmas shoppers who would welcome either a department store or a large discount store.

YOUR BEVERAGE IS FREE when you dine at Pickett's Charge Restaurant, Memorial Highway, Dallas. In conjunction with the eatery's fifth year in business, proprietors Tom and Annette Pickett are offering daily specials.

BILL SPURLIN of Spurlin's Dallas Exxon had his hands full during the early part of last week. Seems all of Bill's employees are hunters and left him alone to mind the store during the first two days of hunting season. A harried Spurlin claims he has never been that shorthanded in all the years he's been in business.

CADDIE LABAR'S Service Station and Boat Repair Shop on Route 415 in Dallas got a face lift recently as workmen were seen putting a new coat of paint on the building. The royal blue color sure makes the building look nice.

ED ROTH of Roth Jewelers, Route 415, Dallas, found himself in the middle of the action at a recent Penn State football game. It seems Ed was very innocently walking to his motor home when a group of college students playing "parking lot pigskin" managed to mos him down. Fortunately, the only injuries Ed sustained were minor bruises.

Batka honored

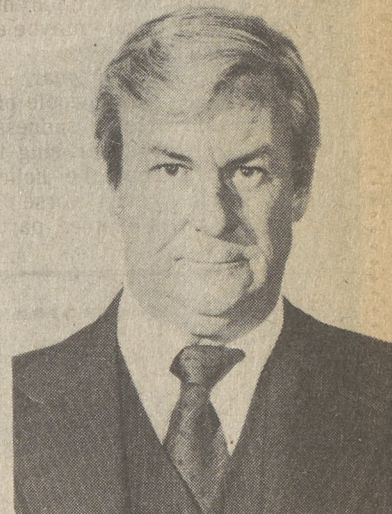

Charles Batka, a plumbingware salesman with Kohler Company's Washington, D.C. branch, was inducted into the Kohler Quarter Century Club during ceremonies held recently in Kohler.

Batka, a Dallas resident, and 65 other employees were guests of honor at the 60th annual gathering of one of the oldest and largest clubs in the nation.

Herbert V. Kohler, Jr., board chairman and chief executive officer of the company, presided at Saturday's ceremonies.

He noted that 25 years is a significant period in the human scale of time.

The Kohler Quarter Century Club was organized in 1924 by Walter J. Kohler, Sr., then chief executive officer of the company. Including this year's new members, 3,390 employees have joined its ranks, and 65 employees have attained 50

CHARLES BATKA or more years of service with the company.

Misericordia names campaign chairmen

Two Back Mountain residents were recently appointed as vice-chairmen for College Misericordia's annual "Gifts for Learning" campaign.

The appointments of Daniel Shall, inventory and purchasing manager of Commonwealth Telephone Company, and George Lister, vice-president and general manager of The Wilkes-Barre Times Leader, were announced by Albert Duran, general campaign chairman.

In coordination with four other campaign vice-chairmen, Shall and Lister will help raise $292,000 for student financial aid programs. More than 90 percent of Misericordia's students benefit from the funds raised each year for academic scholarships, grants, leadership awards and work experience programs. A graduate of King's College with a degree in Business Administration, Shall has attended numerous seminars and forums in the telecommunications business and management fields.

He lives in Dallas with his wife, Mary Beth. The couple has two children.

Lister received his Bachelor of Science degree in accounting from LaSalle College in Philadelphia and attended graduate school at Boston College.

Before joining The Wilkes-Barre Times Leader, Lister was the executive vice-president of the Daily Record in Massachusetts.

He lives in Dallas with his wife, Angela, and their two children.

UGI not soliciting

The Luzerne Electric Division, UGI Corporation has been informed that persons are attempting to collect money from UGI customers by impersonating company collectors.

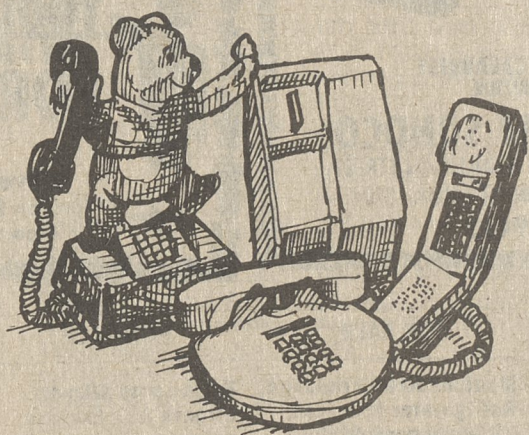

Residential customers have called the company after receiving threatening telephone calls from someone claiming to be a company representative. The callers have made attempts to secure money from utility customers by threatening to discontinue electric service for non-payment of alleged outstanding bills.

UGI urges customers to require the presentation of company identification whenever a company employee visits their home or place of business.

Medical Oncology Associates of Wyoming Valley announces the association of Dr. Jeff Fremont. Dr. Fremont earned a Bachelors Degree from Temple University, a Masters Degree from the University of Maryland and a Doctorate in Counseling Psychology from Penn State University. In addition to his training in family and individual therapy, he has extensive experience in working with cancer patients and their families. He worked closely with the Hospice group in Center County, PA, and has worked closely with the nursing and ancillary staff of the Cancer Care Unit at the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital. Dr. Fremont has conducted psychological support groups and training sessions for medical personnel working with cancer patients. Medical Oncology Associates currently includes Dr. David Greenwald, a board certified medical oncologist trained in cancer chemotherapy and the medical management of cancer related problems and Dr. Elaine Whitbeck, who is currently on leave of absence due to an illness. Dr. Edward O'Brien, of Hershey Medical Center, will be starting in July. Dr. Fremont's joining the group will enable Medical Oncology Associates to offer a wider variety of specialized services to meet the difficult psychological and emotional problems confronted by cancer patients, spouses and immediate family members on both an individual and group basis. In addition to his association with Medical Oncology Associates, Dr. Fremont will continue his teaching appointment at College Misericordia, Department of Behavioral Science and Social Work, and will be maintaining his private practice counseling individuals and families. Dr. Fremont is associated with the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital. Appointments can be made through Medical Oncology Associates, 35 West Linden Street, Wilkes-Barre, PA. The number is 826-1741.
