

AAA: Long-Time Motorists' Friend

The Valley Automobile Club, AAA, has been in and around the greater Wyoming Valley for over 75 years, chartered in 1908 as the Wilkes-Barre Motor Club, later changing its name to Wyoming Valley Motor Club and, finally, to its present name with a merger being consummated giving The Valley Club service and membership rights in Columbia and Montour Counties.

Beginning with a handful of interested motorists over the years, the local AAA club has grown in spectacular leaps and bounds to over 46,000 members today with offices in Wilkes-Barre and Bloomsburg.

The AAA is the largest member service organization offering travel related services. In addition, the club has a travel agency through which AAA members and non-members can plan a trip or vacation anywhere in the world whether by air, sea or rail and select from a host of group travel movements.

Needless to say with 75 years invested in member services, AAA is here to stay.
