

This multi-designed fabric is shown being knitted at Native Textiles in Dallas, one of the many Back Mountain manufacturing facilities making products that are sold in one form or another nationwide.

DR. JOHN C. WANYO
Chiropractor

387 N. Main St.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
717-829-2999

72 Main St.
Luzerne, Pa.
717-288-0629

Call For Appointment

United Penn Bank
Dallas Office
15 Main Street

Experience working for you

Member F.D.I.C.

NATIVE TEXTILES

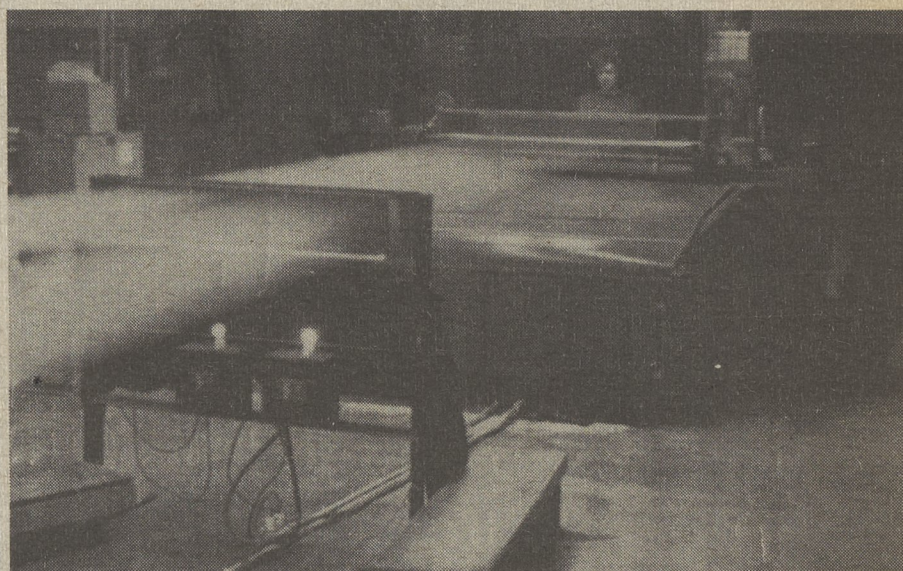

ESTABLISHED IN 1946

Memorial Highway, Dallas, Pa. 18612

QUALITY

- SELLS OUR FABRICS
- INCREASES JOB SECURITY
- KEEPS THE REPEAT ORDERS

Peggy Adamitz at the warping machine.

Joe Kravitz wrapping for shipment.

With the reputation for quality and efficiency, Native Textiles in Dallas is one of the Back Mountain's prime industries. The Dallas plant is a division of Carisbrook Industries.

Presently, Native Textiles employs 155 people. Although many are Back Mountain residents, other employees are from surrounding towns. It is interesting to note, the average age is 42, the average length of service is 15 years and 27 percent of the people employed at Native Textiles are women. The annual payroll at the plant is $2,782,000.